This book, a genealogy, is given to this Library with the hope that it will inspire someone to write a family history, and to do a more complete work than was done here. The experience would be worth a great deal to the writer and give much pleasure to others.

AN EXPLANATION OF THE STAFFORD COAT OF ARMS and Heraldry in General.

The Stafford Coat-of-Arms used is one of the oldest of a number which the family had. It is described as follows:

Shield or escutcheon -- or (Gold), a chevron gules (Red).
Helmet -- argent (Silver) and or (Gold).
Crest -- out of a ducal (pertaining to a duke) coronet gules (Red) a swan's head erect between the two wings elevated argent (Silver).
Mantling or scrollwork -- gules and or.

Colors in the coat-of-arms represent the personal characteristics of the bearer and are granted only as he merits them:

Gold - generosity and elevations of mind.
Silver - sincerity and peace.
Blue - loyalty and truth.
Red - courage.
Black - (the fur lining of royal robes) nobility and constancy.

It is not known just when the custom of bearing a distinguishing mark upon the shield originated, but with the development of body armor, and the closed helmet the need of a distinctive emblem became imperative.

At first a knight or nobleman was free to choose whatever mark pleased his fancy. This he placed upon his shield, and, in later times, upon his surcoat which he wore over the armor; hence the name coat of arms. As time went on, armorial bearings increased and multiplied, and frequent duplications of individual bearings arose. Eventually the need for systemization made itself felt, and the whole subject had been reduced to something closely approaching an exact science.

The charges, or bearings, placed upon the shield are: ordinaries usually showing geometrical patterns, and the common charges, being of pictorial or representative character. They include the lion, eagle, the stag, the sun, moon, star, etc. drawn from the world of nature or myth and fable. Most notable is the lion which appears again and again in the arms of monarch and nobles of high estate. Second to the lion is the eagle, which appears sometimes single-headed, sometimes double-headed, but usually displayed, that is, with wings wide spread.

A coat of arms may bear a single charge, or it may show a great array of charges to represent the union in one person of many houses. This is usually done by quartering and quartering again the excutcheon and placing the different charges in these quarters.

A twice married woman would sometimes show a shield charged with her paternal arms between those of her two husbands, as did Beatrice Stafford in 1404. Her husbands were Thomas, Lord Roos, and Sir Richard Burley.

The crest, originally a special mark of honor, is now commonly placed above the helmet, and rising from a wreath, or from a crown for a monarch or emperor, or from a coronet, denoting various degrees of rank below that of the sovereign. The coronet in the Stafford Coat of Arms is the ducal which indicates the rank of duke.

The motto, in early times was the battle cry of its owner. It is usually placed within a scroll, above the crest or beneath the escutcheon. The Stafford motto is: Abstulit qui debit. Translated: He has gained who has given.

MEMORIAM

In memory of my father, Nathaniel Bird Stafford (1867-1936), who was named for both of his grandfathers, Nathaniel Maddux and Bird L. Stafford.

DEDICATION

This effort is dedicated to my Mother, Nancy Drusilla (Hill) Stafford, who was born May 14, 1866, and celebrated her 95th Birthday at her son's home in Escondido, California, May 14, 1961. She knew the Stafford Family well, and loved the members very much. And she, because of this knowledge of and love for the Staffords, inspired the author to undertake this project. Now, because of the great satisfaction the writer has had in meeting the ancestors through research, other relatives through scores of visits in many states, and many, many others through correspondence, he respectfully dedicates this book to his Mother. And, because of the increased knowledge of, interest in, and love for these Staffords, he also dedicates this book to them and to all of the descendants of this family.

Preface

The author's keen interest and unusual knowledge of the Stafford Family began years ago when big dinners, birthday celebrations and other large gatherings were common at the home of Grandfather James Madison (Matt) Stafford. This interest continued through the years as he contacted and kept up with the whereabouts of more aunts, uncles and cousins (and there were many of them) than any other grandchild.

There are now few left who remember those occasions or participated in them. In fact most of the present generation seem to have little knowledge of their ancestry back of their immediate grandparents. Cousins, second and third removed, though living in the same or adjoining communities are not cognizant of their common ancestry. Thus the purpose back of this attempted task was to gather interesting material while still available, concerning the earlier Stafford Families, their environment and something of the customs of the times in which they lived.

To secure such information people by the name of Stafford were called upon in numerous states wherever possible. Calling on the older members of the families especially, was a rewarding and exciting experience. These folk expressed a proud interest in their pioneer ancestry and whether or not they contributed directly in material or fact to the project, the stories they related were fascinating, interesting and sometimes dramatic. It will be noted however, that several of these older people have died since the beginning of this work. So the urgency of completing it became more apparent.

Documentary support of facts for very early information had to be literally dug out of widely scattered records, some of which were worn and brittle with age. Consecutive leads were followed from one county to another, and from state to state. Searching old records for wills, inventories, tax lists, marriages, property transfers and census data made a thrilling trip back over the trail these ancestors had followed in their movement westward. Fragmentary as these bits of records seemed at the time, they gradually fitted into place revealing a general geographical outline of a trek that had taken members of several generations to make.

Having so closely followed the author in this work I realize that the person undertaking this sort of task has to have a strong interest in his kindred, an interest supported by a general knowledge and background, obtained from the family association over a long period of time. He must be imbued with a spirit of love and reverence for family traditions, and have an appreciation for the historicity of documentary information. And finally he must have a will to work over tedious, time and energy consuming detail until the work is done.

Introduction

When this work was started late in 1958, it was to be a record of James Madison Stafford and his descendants, but while visiting in Missouri the following summer we learned the whereabouts of several descendants of James M. Stafford's brothers. Interesting contacts with these kinsmen gave us the challenge to go as far back into the ancestry of the family as time and energy would permit.

This resulted in many personal calls, many hours of letter writing, requesting addresses of relatives, and letters requesting that family information be placed on forms that were attached. It took the author and his wife on three large circuits, covering more than 30,000 miles; to do research at Salt Lake City; to Washington, D.C. (1959 and twice in 1960), to do work in the Library of Congress, the National Archives, and the D. A. R. Library; to Raleigh, North Carolina State Library and Archives in May 1960, and again in October 1960; to Richmond, Virginia - two trips; to Nashville Tennessee State Library (1959 and 1960); to the University of Missouri, at Columbia; and on numerous trips in and around Springfield, Missouri; to Buffalo, where William Greene and Andrew Jackson Stafford settled; to Seymour, where John L. Stafford moved; to Bolivar, where Lewis Lafayette Stafford lived; to March, where James Madison Stafford settled. All were sons of Bird L. Stafford. Three trips were made across the states of Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee, and one across Eastern Arkansas, looking up and calling on Staffords and searching State and County records.

For sometime we were unable to make progress because no one of the relatives knew where the great-grandparents came from. Everyone seemed to remember that they came to Missouri from Tennessee, and that they had been born in North Caroline. It soon became apparent that one needs to know the county where a person has lived if the record of wills, land grants, taxes, marraiges, etc. are to be found.

Out of material found in Caswell County, North Carolina, we secured the title for our book, "Laban Stafford, His Ancestors and Descendants". This was selected because so many of the families of Staffords treated in this book are direct descendants of Laban. He was a prominent and highly successful farmer and businessman of his community. He rendered his state and our country valuable service during the Revolutionary War, for which he received large land grants. He reared a large family of children, most of them marrying into respected families of the area.

William Stafford, b. 1770, one of Laban's older sons, was Bird L.'s father. Joseph, b. 1785, was Laban's youngest son. Joseph was the Grandfather of John Henry (Yankee John) and James Joseph (Jimmie Joe) Stafford, who were prominent citizens of Jackson County, Tennessee. John Henry was the Grandfather of Jo Stafford, the well-known radio and TV singer.

A Power of Attorney document, written by the above William Stafford, and found in Caswell County, N. C., indicated that he and a brother John were residents of Jackson Co., Tennessee. Here the county courthouse was burned in 1880 and county records destroyed. It will have to be said that this was the greatest handicap in getting a desirable and complete family history of the era. But in this county as everywhere else there were Staffords and their friends who went with the writer to see and visit with the oldest Staffords in the County, and to visit the cemeteries, and farms where the earliest of the kin had settled. We met and talked with Dr. Reeves, past 90, who said he had delivered about all the Stafford youngsters in the county for the past 70 years.

On our way back to California, on different trips, we drove through Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona, looking up many of the kinsfold to secure family data, and in making these contacts we learned that the more one goes into a study of his family, the more exciting, interesting and challenging the search becomes.

William Boyd Stafford, Daniel Jackson Stafford and Cynthia (Stafford) Bradsher, who settled in Poinsett County, Arkansas, after spending some years in Fayette County, Tennessee, all seem to be a part of this family as will be shown later.

Material on the following has been secured from various sources as will be shown in Chapter X.

(1)Thomas through Samuel to Leon Stafford Davis. (2) Thomas Stafford through Thomas (Jr.), Samuel or Joseph to Frederick Ward Stafford. (3) Thomas Stafford through Col. Joab Stafford. (4) George A. Stafford - Delaware. (5) Denison Stafford - Vermont. (6) William Stafford - Wisconsin. (7) Jarvis Stafford of Virginia - Maryland - North Carolina - Ohio. (8) Walter Rawlins Stafford - Tennessee, through Ernest E. Stafford - New Hampshire. (9) John Stafford - Virginia - Missouri. (10) D. L. Stafford - Illinois - Colorado. (11) Robert Stafford - Illinois. (12) George Jacob Stafford - Danville, Arkansas. (13) William Eastwood Stafford - Georgia.

The arrangement of the material in this genealogy may be unique. The purpose is to make the book more usable. The Index is completely alphabetized. Next to each person's name will be found his serial number. With this serial number his name can be found on the family pedigree sheets. There he will find his parents and his brothers and sisters. And at the top of the page is a list of the names of his Stafford ancestors, in order. Each family is treated separately; the children's families in order of birth. The lineage data sheets are in order, starting with the name of the first Stafford to come to America. All of these data sheets are on the right hand side of the book to make it possible to conveniently turn back and forth through this complete family record. Biographical, historical, military, Bible, U. S. Census, Marriage, Birth records and other material to substantiate the family pedigree shown on the Family data sheets, are placed on the left side.

The writer has for many years had a deep respect for his own ancestors, as well as for our ancestors in general, and his appreciation for the purpose and value of genealogy has grown and is well expressed by the following quotation:

> "Genealogy is the natural outcome of that inherent disposition of man which leads him to seek for and preserve the memories of his ancestors in connection with those related to himself. This disposition springs from the immutable necessity of man's existence, since God, as the crowning act of His work of creation, established the Family Relation -- in itself the very cornerstone of all human, social, political and religious organization. In God's system of creation and government, the Family Relation which was . . . . designed by its Divine Founder, as a normal relation, and as one especially adapted to the wants and welfare of the race. From it arises a thousand social relations, duties, comforts and delights to benefit and bless mankind. It forms, indeed, the very bedrock on which all human institutions are founded, without which the world would be a mere chaos of human beings." - Handbook of Genealogy, by Henry R. Stiles, A. M., M. D.

Errors and omissions may be found. There are some instances where various members of the family have not responded to requests, including final notices to send in this information. Some have chosen to send in incomplete information, and sometimes this was all we could obtain, and that is what is herein printed. When anyone discovers an error, or can furnish data omitted, I shall appreciate it if this is forwarded to me. Furthermore, reports of births, marriages and deaths, as well as Stafford Reunions, sent in will be filed. Make us a clearing house for any Stafford Family information, and possibly we shall periodically publish supplements or bulletins.

Many hours and days have been devoted to this task. We have worked early and late going over wills, land grants, deeds, birth records, marriage records, tombstone records, manuscripts, report forms, U. S. Census records, letters and Bible records, attempting to untangle the threads of this story of the lives, histories, births, marriages and deaths of these kinsmen. We have gone back to the places in Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Missouri, and Arkansas, and other states, where our forebears and kinsmen have lived, and, in our imagination, we have gone back to visit many of you and some who have more recently gone, and again experienced the joys and the fun we had at school, and in your homes and at parties and visits together. We could see again our school rooms, our teachers, the school grounds, the activities there including all the old games.

In Jamestown, Virginia, where the earliest of our people came, we could see them too -- arriving in their tiny sailing ships, carried across the Atlantic to our shores by the winds. In North Carolina and Tennessee, we visualized their coming and settling in groups, clearing the timber and building their homes of logs. We drove to these communities, to the areas where they had settled so many years ago, and talked with the oldest inhabitants, whose grandparents had been neighbors of our kin. We could see them about their homes and their work on the farms, using ox teams, homemade wagons, plows and implements. We could see them harvesting the grain and hay with cradles and scythes.

Life for our Kin has gone on from those days of scarcity, few neighbors, great dangers, poor markets, trails and bad roads, with its sorrows and joys, its successes, its disappointments and tragedies. The forests are cleared, the marshes are drained, the highways, with their bridges, are built. The log cabins are gone and now replaced with fine modern homes. These great wildernesses are transformed into fine well equipped farms which produce hybrid grains and well-bred stock. There are also to be found nearby educational institutions with bus transportation to and from them. Many of these farmers have the means and the time modern methods of farming provide, to enjoy the entertainment and culture of the nearby towns and cities, and since our country has become so industrialized, a great many of our people now are employed and live in the cities.

Our great heritage has been bought with effort, pain and great sacrifice by our ancestors with their posterity in mind. Let's never forget this, and each of us strive to preserve this heritage and have the proper appreciation of it. May we always endeavor to train our children to know its unexcelled values and qualities.

Yours Sincerely and Affectionately,

Ernest N. Stafford

Chapter 1

It is said the Stafford name originated in England in the period of the Norman Conquest, soon after William the Conqueror of Normandy took possession of what is now England in 1066. The founder of the family of that name was Robert, a younger son of Robert de Tonei, standard bearer of the duchy of Normandy, who came over with the Conqueror and whose name appears in the Domesday Book. Robert received at the Norman Conquest a great fief extending into seven counties. William appointed him governor of the Castle de Stafford and from this place his descendants took the name, de Stafford. The castle was so named because there was a shallow place in the river nearby, which could be crossed by stepping from stone to stone with the aid of a staff. Forded with a staff, hence Stafford. The Castle was located near the city Stafford and within the County of Stafford (Staffordshire).

The Staffords were early found in various counties of England and Scotland and a few counties of Ireland, but the greatest concentration seems to have been in Staffordshire and Warwickshire.

People bearing this name in England increased in number and influence until the county seat (Stafford), as well as the county (Staffordshire), came to bear the name. In 1299 a barony was created, and the crest shown elsewhere was formed -- The motto is inscribed in Latin "Abstulit qui debit", which may be interpreted:
(1) "He has gained who has given."
(2) "To give is to receive."
Burke's "Peerage" and other volumes give the long list of Earls, Lords, Viscounts and Barons who have borne the crest and lived in Stafford Castle, near the city of Stafford, England.

Among the prominent Staffords of England, the earliest mentioned is Ralph de Stafford b-1299, and Sir Richard Stafford b-1337. Edmund, son of Richard de Stafford was Bishop of Exeter and summoned to Parliament as Baron Stafford in 1371. He was a great patron of learning. Humphrey Stafford b-1402 d-1460, son of Edmund, fifth Earl of Stafford, appeared in the Council of Henry VI and was first Duke of Buckingham. (1444 - 1454) He was killed at the battle of Northampton.

Henry Stafford, 2nd Duke of Buckingham, 1454 - 1483, grandson of the 1st duke helped to put Richard III on the throne, but later revolted and was executed. Edward Stafford, 3rd Duke of Buckingham b-1478 d-1521, regained his father's title and was made privy-councilor on accession of Henry VIII. However, when the King became jealous of his influence, he was accused of treason and beheaded in the Tower. His son, Henry Stafford, 1st Baron Stafford b-1501 d-1563, succeeded to part of the 1st duke's possessions. Lord Stafford's second surviving son, Thomas, evidently assumed the royal arms, sailed for Dieppe with two ships in April 1557, landed in Scarborough, seized the castle and proclaimed himself protector. He was captured and executed for high treason.

The new barony in 1637 passed to a cadet (Roger Stafford, who was a son of Richard Stafford, who was a son of Henry Stafford), in humble circumstances. He was called on by the King to declare himself a pauper which he did in 1639, (illegally it is now held). His sister Mary, (the heir in the general line), married William Howard in 1637, and the King made William Howard the first Viscount Stafford. Roger, son of Richard Stafford, who was the son of Henry Stafford, b-1501 d-1563, was the last male heir, apparently of the main line of his historic Stafford house. William Howard, his brother-in-law, was imprisoned in the Tower of London in 1678, charged with treason and beheaded in 1680.

John Stafford, b-1728 d-1800, Independent divine, was born at Leicester in August 1728. At first a wool-comber, he in 1749 entered the Independent Academy at Northampton, where he was prepared for the ministry by Phillip Doddridge. He did considerable further study and was Minister of New Broad Street 42 years - Died at his house in Chisswell St. Finsbury 2-22-1800. Buried in Bunhill Fields. His Theology - rigidly Calvanistic. Wife's name Hannah. He published eight volumes with notes - critical and explanatory. "The Scripture Doctrine of Sin and Grace."

John Stafford, Archbishop of Canterbury, keeper of the privy seal, b-1428, was first Lord Chancellor. William Stafford, b-1593, an Oxford graduate, inherited the estate of his uncle, Sir John Stafford, Marlboro Port, Gloucestershire. Sir Thomas Stafford of Ireland, b-1633, was the author of "Pacata Hibernia". Richard Anthony Stafford, a surgeon in London, was a son of a Rector in Northamptonshire.

In a group of English Redemptionists, who came over to Virginia in 1618 - 1622, there were Staffords. These Redemptionists were people who pledged their services for a period of years, usually four, in return for transportation and a grant of 50 to 100 acres of land.

It has often been expressed that, "There was only one Stafford family in England. No matter how lowly in worldly goods or station a man might be who bore that name, it was definitely known that he was a member of that great parent family designated by it."

Shaw's History of Staffordshire lists these among other sheriffs of the County:

In the time of:

Henry I - Nicholas de Stafford

Henry II - Robert de Stafford, of Stafford Castle - 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 terms.

Edward III - Nicholas de Stafford - 47th term. Nicholas de Stafford - 50th term.

distinguished Order of Chivalry that, "No Order in Europe is so ancient, none so illustrious, for it exceeds in majesty, honour and fame all chivalrous fraternities in the world." It has ever ranked as the highest dignity of Knighthood.

The political situation of the time in which Edward III grew up, led to his determination to restore the prestige of his beloved England, for the control of the crown had fallen into the hande of self-seeking and unscrupulous persons, and his father was powerless to stem the tide. Edward depended upon the nobility to assist in this task and, recalling the ancient traditions of King Arthur and his Round Table, he instituted the Order of the Garter to excite emulation among the knights, which resulted in the dawn of nobler days. The members chosen, then as now, pledged themselves to support the laws of God and of the realm, and to promote all that is noble, just and true.

Edward's court was the most brilliant in Europe, his victories being celebrated with gorgeous tournaments. Gaities, festivities and honours prevailed. During his reign the fine arts, especially architecture and poetry, attained a great development. Geoffrey Chaucer flourished at this time, and in the sphere of religious reforms stands out the noble and thoroughly English figure of John Wickliffe.

It was a time when Knighthood was in flower, and when courtiers were most courtly. In the words of Hallans this was a time when the court of England, "was the sun as it were of the system which embraced the valour and nobility of the Christian world", when "chivalry was in its zenith, and in all the virtues which adorned this knightly character, none were so conspicuous as Edward III and the Black Prince."

The insignia of the Order are: the garter, a blue ribbon of velvet, edged with gold and having a gold buckle, worn on the left leg below the knee: the badge, called the Great George, a figure of St. George slaying the dragon, pendant from the collar of gold, which has twenty-six pieces, each representing a coiled garter; the lesser George, worn on a broad blue ribbon over the left shoulder; and the star of eight points of silver, having in the middle the Cross of St. George, encircled by the garter. The vesture consists of a mantle of blue velvet, lined with white taffeta, a book and surcoat of crimson velvet, and a hat of black velvet with a plume of white ostrich feathers, having in the center a tuft of black heron feathers. When the Sovereign is a woman, she wears the ribbon on the left arm.

St. George's chapel, Windsor Castle, the shrine of the Knights of the Garter, had been erected more than a century and was found in recent years to be in a state of great decay. The large sum needed for its repairs was provided and the necessary repairs were completed, which was made possible by the generosity of the King, the present-day Knights, and others, including members of the Society of Descendants of Knights of the Most Noble Order of the Garter, which was instituted in 1929, and of which Society the Honorable William Howard Taft was Founder President.

Original Members of the Order of the Garter

1st - EDWARD PLANTAGENET
- The Black Prince - b-6-30-1330.

He distinguished himself at the age of sixteen when placed in command of Crecy August 26, 1346, wearing black armor, hence his name. He married his cousin, Joan, the Fair Maid of Kent. They had two children: Edward, who died at age of seven, and Richard of Bordeaux, Prince of Wales, afterwards King Richard II, who died June 8, 1376, without issue.

2nd - HENRY PLANTAGENET
- b-about 1300 - Duke of Lancaster

A great commander. Son of Lord Stafford. Had two children: Maud, who was a child-wife of Ralph Stafford, and at age six was his widow.

3rd - THOMAS deBEAUCHAMP
- b-1313 - Earl of Warwick

At the age of two years he succeeded his father as Earl of Warwick. Thomas "left not behind him his equal in warlike quality and fidelity". He and his wife, Catherine Montimer, are both buried at Warwick. Left sixteen children. Phillippa married Hugh Stafford.

4th - JEAN de GRAILLY

He was captured and confined in the Temple at Paris, 1356. King Edward made several offers for his exchange, but King Charles was willing to liberate him only upon condition that he would bind himself never again to bear arms against France. Declining to accept that condition he died in prison in 1377.

5th - RALPH, LORD STAFFORD
- b-1299. SON OF EDMUND STAFFORD and Margaret Bassett.

One of the most esteemed of Edward's commands, he distinguished himself in wars in Ireland and in France, his long life being constantly employed in the King's service. He died August 31, 1372, and was buried beside his wife, Margaret. They were the parents of five children. The youngest, Margaret, married John Stafford.

6th - WILLIAM de MONTACULE
Earl of Salisbury - b-6-25-1328.

In 1376 he was made an Admiral of the Fleet. His entire life was spent in warfare. He was the last survivor of the Founders of the Order. d-6-3-1397.

7th - ROGER MONTIMER
Earl of March - b-11-11-1328.

His personal courage and adroitness in the tournaments won for him a place among the Founders of the Order of the Garter. "Roger was a man of great strength, eager for the glory of battle, but prudent in council and praiseworthy for the goodness of his morals." He married Phillippa Montacute, sister of William, above. d-2-26-1359.

8th - JOHN BARON LISLE - b-1318.

Married when fourteen. Had four children.

9th - BARTHOLOMEW, LORD BURGHERSH - b-1320.

A close companion of the Black Prince. d-1369. One daughter, Elizabeth, who married Edward Despencer, K. G.

10th - JOHN de BEAUCHAMP.
b-1315. Lord of Warwick.

A younger brother of Thomas. He was appointed Admiral of the Fleet, and Constable of the Tower of London. d-12-2-1360. Buried at St. Paul's Cathedral, London.

11th - JOHN, BARON MOHUN. b-1320.

He performed many gallant services. His wife was sister of Bartholomew Burghersh, (No. 9 above). They had three daughters. Elizabeth, the oldest, married William de Montacute, (No. 6 above).

12th - HUGH, BARON COURTENAY
b-1326. Earl of Devon.

He married Elizabeth in 1341. d-1349. Buried at Ford Abbey, Devonshire.

13th - THOMAS de HOLAND
Earl of Kent.

He was appointed the King's Lieutenant and Captain - General in France and Normandy. d-1360, in Normandy. Buried in the Church of the Grey Friars in Stanford, Lincoln County. His wife afterwards married the Black Prince and became the mother of King Richard II. She was Joan Plantagenet, the Fair Maid of Kent. Thomas and she had five children: John, Earl of Huntingdon, married Elizabeth Plantagenet; Joan, wife of John, Duke of Brit-

15th - RICHARD FITZ-SIMON

16th - MILES STAPLETON - b-1320.

An expert soldier. In 1353 and subsequent years he was High Sheriff of Yorkshire. d-1364. Buried before the High Altar of the Church at Ingham, in Norfolk. Had three children. One grandson was K. G.

17th - THOMAS WALE - b-1303.

"A Knight of great virtue and worthiness". He died October 26, 1352.

18th - HUGH WRATTESLEY

Of an ancient family long seated at Wrattesley, in Staffordshire.

19th - NELE LORYNG

By his gallant conduct in the naval engagement off Sluys June 24, 1340, he won the King's favor. In 1355 he attended the Black Prince into Gascony. He dies 1385. Two daughters.

20th - JOHN CHANDOS

He has been called "the pride of English chivalry, with many gallant achievements during a period of thirty years". Personal friend of the Black Prince. He was slain at Lussac Bridge in war, December 31, 1369. Never married.

He appears to have been tripped by the long garment he wore over his armor, and, his visor being open, he was stabbed by the enemy, bringing to a close the life of a sweet-tempered knight, courteous, benign, amiable, liberal, courageous, prudent and loyal in all affairs, one who bore himself valiantly on every occasion.

21st - JAMES, LORD AUDLEY

22nd - OTES de HOLAND

A younger brother of Thomas (No. 13 above). A person of great valor, he fell into disgrace through allowing the Earl of Eye, who had been committed to his custody, to go at large, armed.

24th - SANCHET d'ABRICHECOURT - d-1360.

25th - WALTER PAVELEY - b-1319.

Of ancient Norman ancestry and a cousin of Bartholomew Burghersh, (No. 9 above).

From Magna Charta, by John S. Wurts, Parts I - II.

The Orders of the Garter and Members

When first this order was ordained, my Lords,
Knights of the Garter were of noble birth,
Valiant and virtuous, full of haughty courage,
Such as were grown to credit by the wars;
Not fearing death, nor shrinking for distress,
But always resolute in most extremes.
He that is not furnished in this sort
Doth but usurp the sacred name of Knight,
Profaning this most Honourable Order.

- Shakespeare -

OUR WINGS

Shall we know in the hereafter
All the reasons that are hid?
Does the butterfly remember
What the caterpillar did?
How he waited, toiled, and suffered
To become a chrysalid?

When we creep so slowly upward
When each day new burden brings,
When we strive so hard to conquer
Vexing sublunary things,
When we wait and toil and suffer,
We are working for our wings.

--Danske Dandridge

Chapter 2

Most of the Staffords in America spring from three new world branches. All of which are probably from the same source in England. These are: the New England, the Virginia and the Canada branches. On the last one we have little information.

THOMAS STAFFORD was said to have emigrated from Warwickshire, England to Plymouth, Massachusetts about 1626. A few years later he moved to Providence, Rhode Island, and thence to Warwick, Rhode Island in 1652 where he died in 1677. He claimed to be the son of the unfortunate Roger Stafford (b. 1572) who was unable to prove that he was the son of Richard Stafford, who was the son of Henry Stafford, created Baron Stafford, by his wife Lady Ursula, a daughter of Sir Richard Pale, K. G. and his wife Margaret, a Countess of Salisbury, daughter of George, Duke of Clarence (a brother of King Edward IV and Richare III of England, Duke of York, who was the son of Richard, Earl of Cambridge, son of Edmund of Langley, a son of Edward III, King of England.

In 1662 Thomas Stafford was granted 50 acres of land in Connecticut by the General Court. He was a millwright and at Plymouth, Massachusetts he built the first mill in this country for grinding of corn. He mentions his wife Elizabeth in his will made November 4, 1667. Their children were: Thomas, Samuel, Joseph, Deborah, Hannah, and Sarah. His descendants have spread mainly to Connecticut, New York, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, and Illinois.

The first of the Staffords to reach the shores of America and the one in whom we are especially interested was WILLIAM. William Stafford came to Jamestown, Virginia on the ship Furtherance in 1622. This is proved by the "List of Emigrants 1600 - 1700" by J. C. Hotten. His name appears in the Muster of Francis Mason, made at Elizabeth City, Virginia in 1624. His age was given at 16 years. From him have descended many of the Staffords of Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama, Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Kentucky, and of other States further West.

WILLIAM STAFFORD is carried on Francis Mason's Muster as one of his servants. This term was used at that time to indicate a person who was bound for his passage money. Some settlers brought with others, members of their own family, in this guise in order to collect 50 acres of land from the Colony for each person. It was a common practice in those early pioneer days for land-owners in the Colonies to pay the transportation expenses for the poorer emigrants, and have them bound in the capacity of servants for a number of years until the fee was paid back. For example:-

Virginia Colonial Court Records, page 475: "JAMES WARD has proved right by testimony to 400 acres land for charge for importation of eight persons. Richard Stafford James Ward disposed in Court that the above menconed is due June 3, 1664. Test. Hall Pryse cl." There was also a record of one getting 4450 acres for transportation expenses for 89 persons.

Hotten in his book telling of the early immigrants to America lists the passengers in the Mayflower. A list furnished by Governor William Bradford included - John Carver, chosen 1st Governor, William Brewster, William Mullins, his wife and son Joseph who died the first winter, and daughter Priscilla who married John Alden. Captain Myles Standish, Thomas Tinker, wife and son (all died in the first sickness).

Following the Mayflower list Hotten gives the Francis Mason muster as follows:

FRANCIS MASON and his Muster:

Francis Mason aged 40 in the John and Francis - 1613
Alice Mason age 26 in the Margett and John - 1622
Frances Mason born in Virginia
Servants - William Querke aged 30 in the Marmaduke - 1621
Thomas Worthall aged 14 in the Marmaduke - 1621
Henrie Gandy aged 21 in the Dutie - 1619
William Stafford aged 16 in the Furtherance - 1622
John Robinson aged 21 in the Margett and John - 1622 etc., etc.

About 1640 WILLIAM STAFFORD married Frances Mason and had issue by her, a son named William (2nd), who became the father of a number of sons, two of whom were William (3rd) and John who made their homes in North Carolina; the others remained in Virginia.

FRANCES (Mason) STAFFORD died soon after the birth of their child, William 2nd. Her husband married again, his second wife being Anne. He died in 1644 or 1645.

This first son seems to be the only child, and he settled in York Co., Virginia near Yorktown which is located near Williamsburg. We have little information concerning him except that he married and had at least two sons, William 3rd and John, who after reaching maturity emigrated to North Carolina.

There has always been a tradition in this branch of the family that their progenitor in this country was a descendant of the noble English family of Staffords. Tradition is the only evidence we have, but it has consistently been handed down from one generation to the next up to the present. William did have the Stafford Coat-of-Arms which is very similar to the one the Thomas Stafford family possesses. This form of the Coat-of-Arms is shown and explained elsewhere in this book.

This WILLIAM 3rd, of York Co., Va. established himself in North Carolina in that part known at that time as Currituck Precinct. A part of it now forms Currituck Co., N.C. He seems to have gone there sometime before 1700. In "Volume I of the North Carolina Historical and Genealogical Register" - page 301-2-3-4, it gives a rent roll of land in Albermarle Co., without dates but prior to 1700 "WILLIAM STAFFORD, Majork Creek, Currituck, 640 acres".

In Volume I page 304 of the same magazine, we find a record of the Members of the Legislature, which met at a house in Perquimans Precinct, October 11, 1709, and among the names of those in the House of Burgesses we find the name of William Stafford. He married Jane Brown. We have little further information except that from the abstract of his will in the North Carolina Historical and Genealogical Register, Volume I page 75. He died between February and August 1728. Will dated February 16, 1728 and was probated August 3, 1728. In it he mentions his sons, John, Edward, William (4th), Samuel and his daughters Ann, Frances, Mary and Jane. Also his wife, Jane.

WILLIAM STAFFORD 3rd's brother John, who came with him to North Carolina, settled in Bath Co. He died there in 1733, leaving five children: William, John, Joshua, Edward and Thomas.

WILLIAM STAFFORD (4th), son of William 3rd, settled further south along the coast in what is now New Hanover Co., N. C. near the present city of Wilmington just north of the mouth of Cape Fear River. He died in 1765, leaving a wife and nine children. His will dated August 31, 1765. Probated October 1765. Sons William and John as executors; the children, Mary May, Richard, William, John, Samuel, Ann Forbes, Prudence Stone, Seth and Elizabeth; wife Elizabeth. He divided one plantation among sons William, John and Richard and gave each a Negro. He gave a plantation in Pitt Co. and a Negro to Samuel. Gave his son Seth a plantation.

WILLIAM STAFFORD (5th) was the oldest son of William 4th. After the death of his father in Hanover Co. 1765, William 5th headed a migration of a large number of the family. This Stafford exodus of North Carolina took place about 10 years prior to the American Revolution. It probably consisted of William 5th, his brothers, Richard, Samuel and Seth and their cousins Thomas and Edward Stafford, sister Mary May and her daughters and their husbands and families. They settled in the Beaufort District of S. E. South Carolina in that rich area of land along the Savannah River.

WILLIAM STAFFORD 5th was quite prominent. He became a leader in the affairs of St. Peter's Parish and was a Colonel in the South Carolina Militia during the Revolutionary War. He served as a member of the legislature called by Governor Rutlege. He also served as a member of the Constitutional Convention called to ratify the United States Constitution. The 1790 Census of South Carolina includes in his family, his wife and six other members and indicated that he owned 13 slaves.

In May 1960, we stopped in this area to see if we could contact some of the Staffords and we were told that there were no Staffords living there.

SETH STAFFORD, the youngest son of William 4th, died in Beaufort District, S. C. 1803. He had been a soldier in the Revolutionary War and was a delegate to the Constitutional Convention called to ratify the Federal Constitution. The 1790 Census of South Carolina showed a family of 8 including himself and wife Amanda (Maner), and 18 slaves. The children of record are: John, James, Ann, Leroy and Elizabeth.

About 1808 or 1809 and soon after the death of their parents, these children with a number of their kindred and friends, left South Carolina and started West and made a long trip across the country in ox drawn wagons to a new settlement of Woodville, in Wilkinson Co., Miss. They did not like the sandy soil found here and about 10 years later they crossed the Mississippi River into Lousiana and settled in a community already settled by other South Carolinians. William F. Cheney laid off the little village of Cheneyville, Louisiana. The Staffords have remained here, and some are still to be found here along with Maners.

LEROY STAFFORD was the youngest son of Seth Stafford and Amanda (Maner) Stafford. Leroy's birthplace was Beaufort District, S. C. b. 4-19-1783.
Married in S. C. 1-30-1806 to Rachel Providence Audebert

LOST--A PLAYMATE

She hunted up dark alleys
And shady, tree-lined street,
She hunted by the railroad tracks
Where pals are wont to meet.

Straying homeward late for dinner,
She was feeling pretty sad,
So I phoned the local paper
To insert a little ad.

Lost, it read, a little doggie,
Short brown hair and stubby tail,
And his playmate has been grieving
'Til she's looking kind of pale.

Lots of folks came bringing
doggies,
Little homeless waifs they'd found;
But when no one brought our Mickey
Daddy said, we'll try the pound.

Hopefully we scanned the cages
Housing dogs both large and small,
But at last with hopes exhausted
Bitter tears began to fall.

No more little games and races,
Hide and seek with Mickey "It,"
Tug o' war with Mickey winning
'Til she'd beg of him to quit.

No more joyful shouts of greeting
In a little doggie's voice;
Mister, if you've found our Mickey
Won't you bring him home to Joyce.

-- A. M. Strickler

MEANWHILE, SMILE

A little tear,
A little sadness,
A bit of cheer,
A bit of gladness,
And maybe strife--
That's life.
But meanwhile,
Smile!

Chapter 3

To trace the family lineage very far into the past necessitated more information than any of the relatives were able to give concerning where Bird L. Stafford (our great-grandfather) had lived in Tennessee or where he had lived previously. Although most of us had been told that the family came to Tennessee from North Carolina.

We were referred to the Mormon Library at Salt Lake City. Here in the Historical and Genealogical Department of the library operated by the Church of Christ of Latter Day Saints, records stated that Bird L. Stafford was born in North Carolina and had migrated to Dallas County, Missouri, in 1840, with his family, after pioneering in Hardeman County, Tennessee, and that he had served in the War of 1812.

The Library of Congress, the North Carolina State Library and the Tennessee State Library seemed to be logical places for further information, but making the complete rounds of these libraries, with the help of their librarians, -- uncovered no trace of Bird L. Stafford's father or family. Knowledge of his father became a paramount concern in order to reach another generation. Finally a call was made on Mr. Harvey Gott, a grandson of Bird L. Stafford. Mr. and Mrs. Gott had Bird L. Stafford's family Bible which contained a good family record, including the name of his father, William, who was born in July 1770, and the name of his mother, Salley. Bird had died in 1867, and this record was found in 1959 - 92 years later.

OLD-FASHIONED STUFF

My father was very old-fashioned, they said,
With notions long passed out of date.
He fancied the best way of getting ahead
Was to work and have patience to wait.
By practice he told us skill came to the hand,
From study comes learning, he'd say,
And it grieved him to think that the youth of the land
Count believe in an easier way.

"If it's roses you'd grow, you must dig in the soil;
If you'd rule, you must learn to obey;
If money you'd spend, you must earn it by toil,"
My father would frequently say.
"If a dollar you borrow, a dollar return;
Debt is something all honest men pay."
And it grieved him to think that his teachings we'd spurn,
Or believe in an easier way.

Well, we've lived and we've laughed through the wisecracking age,
And of smartness we've taken our fill;
We are ready, I think, to bring back to life's stage
Work, honesty, patience, and skill.
The start's at the bottom and not at the top,
As my old-fashioned father would say;
The way to the desk is to work in the shop
And there's never an easier way.

---Edgar A. Guest

SAIL AHEAD

Live for something, have a purpose,
And that purpose keep in view;
Drifting like a helmless vessel,
Thou cans't ne'er to life be true.

Half the wrecks that strew life's ocean,
If some star had been their guide,
Might have now been riding safely,
But they drifted with the tide.

ANCESTORS

If you could see your ancestors
All standing in a row
Would you be proud of them or not
Or don't you really know.

Some strange discoveries are made
In climbing family trees
And some of them you know, do not Particularly please.

If you could see your ancestors
All standing in a row
There might be some of them perhaps
You wouldn't care to know.

But here's another question
Which requires a different view
If you could meet your ancestors
Would they be proud of you.

Early in May, 1960, we began searching in the North Carolina State Library in Raleigh to find the particular William Stafford who married Salley. After five days scanning old records this information was found in the marriage records which had been copied from Caswell County, North Carolina Marriage Bonds Register. The record stated that William Stafford married Salley Johnston September 15, 1793. We then checked the U. S. Census reports of Caswell County for 1800. Here William was recorded with a wife, two sons and one daughter. All children were shown to be under ten years old.

Further work was done in Washington, D. C. with very little gained. Knowing that so many county records had been destroyed during the war in the South and from fires, we were reluctant to attempt to secure this information by visiting the county seats. But a trip to Caswell County, North Carolina was made and at Yanceyville we found the records had not been destroyed, and that the Register of Deeds, Mr. J. B. Blaylock, and his wife, had the records in excellent condition, well-bound, and preserved with much of the entries indexed. Three days of work here yielded the most important information, and documentary evidence was secured that carried us back four generations. We took the time while in the county to drive over to Leasburg, across the Hyco and Cobb Creeks, along which several Stafford families lived and owned land for about five generations. We called on some of the older people, Miss Thompson, Miss Graves and the Postmistress, whose grandparents lived there with our ancestors. We also found the will of Salley Johnston's father and learned the names of her mother, sisters and brothers.

We quickly found records of several land transactions by Staffords -- Laban in particular, Adam, John, Thomas, William, Henry, Eli, James, Joseph and others. Also marriage records of the Staffords and the Johnstons were checked and copied. This was followed by a check of the Wills of different Staffords in the county. One of the first things checked and read was a Power of Attorney, given by William to his brother John, in which it is stated that both were residents of Jackson County, Tennessee. The purpose of the Power of Attorney was for the settlement of William's legacy, which was due him from his father's (Laban Stafford) estate. Next was found a land settlement of the Estate of John Stafford, in which his sons, Laban, Adam, Eli and Joseph had received land. This was followed by an earlier Will, in which Adam Stafford gave his three sons, John, Samuel and Stephen, his property. So, in three days of search we had taken the family back from William to his father Laban, and from Laban to his father John, and from John to his father Adam.

I'M FINE

There's nothing whatever the matter with me.
I'm just as healthy as I can be.
I have arthritis in both my knees
And when I talk - I talk with a wheeze.
My heart is weak, and my blood is thin;
But I'm awfully well for the shape I'm in.
Arch supports I have for my feet
Or I wouldn't be able to be on the street.
Sleep is denied me, nite after nite,
And every morning I'm a site.
My memory's failing; my heart's in a spin;
I'm practically living on aspirin.
But, I'm awfully well, for the shape I'm in.

The moral is, as this tale I unfold,
For you and me who are growing old,
It's better to say, "I'm fine" with a grin
Than to let them know the shape we're in.

TAKE TIME

Take time TO THINK...
It is the source of Power.
Take time TO PLAY...
It is the secret of perpetual youth.
Take time TO READ...
It is the Fountain of Wisdom.
Take time TO PRAY...
It is the greatest Power on Earth.
Take time TO LOVE and BE LOVED...
It is a God-Given Privilege.
Take time TO BE FRIENDLY...
It is the Road to Happiness.
Take time TO LAUGH...
It is the Music of the Soul.
Take time TO GIVE...
It is too short a Day to be Selfish.
Take time TO WORK...
It is the Price of Success.

THE CLOCK OF LIFE

The clock of life is wound but once,
And no man has the power
To tell just when the hands will stop,
At late or early hour.

To lose one's wealth is sad indeed;
To lose one's health is more;
To lose one's soul is such a loss
That no man can restore.

The present only is our own;
So labor with a will,
And boast not of tomorrow's dawn;
The clock may then be still.

"Let my temptation be a book,
which I shall purchase, hold,
and keep."

From these documents and items referred to above it is clear that Laban Stafford was a thrifty and well-known citizen of his time. He rendered considerable service to the Colonies during the American Revolutionary War. He reared a large family of boys and girls, who married into some of the best families of the area. He owned approximately 2,000 acres of land along the Hyco and Cobb Creeks, near Leasburg, North Carolina and owned many slaves.

William Stafford (Son of Laban) - 1770

William Stafford and his family left Caswell County, North Carolina after he sold his farm in Caswell County November 2, 1805, and settled in Jackson County, Tennessee. John, his brother, with his family must have gone about the same time. William's first wife Salley (Johnston) died in 1829. The only children whose names we have are: John, Bird L. and Uriah (b-1801). Uriah probably went with Bird L. to Hardeman County, Tennessee and married Elizabeth Hanks there August 8, 1825, but later returned to Jackson County, Tennessee, and lived there for many years, according to the various U. S. Census records. His second wife's name was Martha. Uriah was on the Hardeman County Tax List up to 1837. In the 1830 Census he was listed with two sons and one daughter, all under five years. In 1850 he is shown on the U. S. Census of Jackson County as forty-nine years of age.

"The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge; fools despise wisdom and instruction. Hear, my son, your father's instruction, and reject not your mother's teachings."----Proverbs

THESE THINGS ARE FREE

In gloomy tones we need not cry
How many things there are to buy!
Here is a thought for you and me:
The best things in life are free.

The air, the sunshinw, and the sea,
All gladness, beauty--these are free;
Our faithful friendships, sympathy,
The joys of living--these are free;
The budding blossom, stalwart tree,
God's open country--these are free.

All loving service, loyalty,
Our God's protection--these are free;
The more we look the more we see
How many precious things are free.
The heart will find more than the eye
Of things we do not have to buy.

Let's stop and think, let's know and feel
That things like these are truly real;
Yes, we think how rich are we
When all the best of things are free!

----John Martin

A WORD TO THE WISE

Forget the hasty, unkind word.
Forget the slander you have heard.
Forget the quarrel and the cause.
Forget the whole affair because Forgetting is the only way (to)
Forget the storm of yesterday.

Forget the knocker and the sneak.
Forget the bad days of the week.
Forget your a millionaire.
Forget the gray streak in your hair.
Forget to even get the blues.
But don't forget to pay your dues.

(a) Newton C. Stafford impressed most people with his geniality. He was known for his friendliness and sympathetic understanding. He believed very strongly in the value and importance of education and encouraged his brothers, sisters and friends all he could to interest their children in getting an education.

Chapter 4

Bird L. Stafford - (1796 - 1867)

Bird L. Stafford, b-1796, at Leasburg, North Carolina, was a son of William Stafford and Salley (Johnston) Stafford, both from Caswell County, North Carolina. He went with his parents to Jackson County, Tennessee, when he was about ten years old. He served in the War of 1812 and was probably with Jackson on his march to New Orleans. He married very soon after his return from the war in 1814. His wife was Lucy Parker (or Parkes), the daughter of John and Lucy Parker (or Parkes). The Parkers and Bird L. with his wife and their three oldest children, Joseph A., John L., and Sarah Ann, and probably Uriah, a younger brother of Bird's all moved from Jackson County, Tennessee to Hardeman County, Tennessee about 1822. This information we gathered from Tax Records and Land Purchase Records at Bolivar, the County Seat.

Since Bird (our Great-Grandfather's given name) was a very uncommon one, it was thought that some Stafford had married a girl with that maiden name. There are many Birds in Virginia and North Carolina.

Proof of Bird Stafford's service in the War of 1812 against Great Britain is evidenced in the photostats below, which are a part of the documents on this soldier received from the War Department.

You will note that he served in Captain West's Company, under Colonel Coffer and General Carroll's Regiment, Tennessee Militia. He enlisted October 1, 1814 at Nashville for six months. He served from November 11, 1814 to May 13, 1815 and was honorably discharged at New Orleans and received certain remunerations to the Tennessee line bordering the Indian Nation which later became a part of West Tennessee. You will also note the description of the acres of land which was a grant from the government for his services in the war.

Our family of Staffords have always thought that Bird L. Stafford's wife was a Parks. But in all the records we found of her father, and there were quite a few, including county court records of the sale of his farm, his crop and stock, and his slaves, as well as the settlement of the estate in 1850 which went to Lucy Stafford--in all these records (which were in handwriting) the spelling was Parker, or possibly Parkes. However, if the name were Parkes the "s" was left open in every case so that it looked like an "r".

Parkers, Park, Parke and Parkes are found everywhere in Virginia and the Carolinas. Eighty-nine heads of families with the name Parker were listed in the 1790 U.S. Census in Virginia. Johnston is a very popular name. One county of North Carolina was named Johnston and three governors of North Carolina have been Johnstons.

Governor Gabriel Johnston was Governor of the Province of North Carolina in 1734. His brother in 1736. Samuel of the same family born in Dundee, Scotland, 1733, emigrated with his father 1734 (John Johnston, Governor). He held almost every office in the state and was elected Governor of the State in 1787.

Gabriel Johnston was Governor of North Carolina - 1734-1752.

Richard Caswell was the first Governor of North Carolina under the Constitution - 1776-1787.

In 1790 U. S. Federal Census for North Carolina showed a total of one hundred four Staffords as head of households.

HARDEMAN COUNTY, TENNESSEE

Hardeman County lies in the upper plateaus of southwestern Tennessee, near the head of the Big Hatchie River. The Treaty which opened West Tennessee for settlement by the whites was signed October 19, 1818, by Isaac Shelby and Andrew Jackson for President Monroe, and the Chiefs of the Chickasaw Indians. (The Indians reserved two more years of hunting rights.) Settlement started after 1820, and settlers were rapidly coming from North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, North Alabama and middle Tennessee. The very first was built in 1819-1820. Among them Colonel Thomas J. Hardeman, the first County Clerk. The first mill near Bolivar came about 1823. Roads were soon cut out from the different neighborhoods to the County Seat.

With the settlement of the area came courts, criminals and trials. So a jail was ordered to be built in 1824, the cost not to exceed $40.00. Soon after the organization of the county, stage routes were opened through Bolivar to Memphis, to Savannah, to Nashville and several other routes. In 1826 William Groomes was tried for petty larceny, and a jury of Telghmano, Amons, Elkins, Chambers, Whitthorn, Peyton, Chapman, Campbell, McKinnie, Ransey, McMillan and Jas. Martin decided him guilty and ordered that he should receive "25 lashes upon the bare back at the public whipping post in the public square within one hour after the adjournment of court." In 1829 Peter, a man of color, sued John Sanders for trespass and by the jury was awarded $7.75. July 7, 1834, Pitser Miller was allowed $67.47 for a bell for the Court House. Bolivar was incorporated in 1847. Hardeman County in 1830 had 6,108 whites and 5,556 negroes. The average value of a slave in Tennessee in 1830 was $550, compared with $100 in 1790. There are very few colored people in Hardeman County now (1960). (Note: Tennessee was admitted as a State in 1796.)

Bird L. Stafford is first shown on the poll tax list of Hardeman County in 1824, and the first land purchase found, made by him, was in 1824. Also a sale of 100 acres to Benj. Riddle by Bird was made and recorded November 22, 1825. Bird is on the tax list for each year up to 1839.

The 1830 U. S. Census for Hardeman County shows the following for Bird Stafford:

Bird Stafford - (Head of Household)
(1796 - 1867)

Staffords found in the Marriage Register in Hardeman County, Tennessee are:

(1) August 8, 1825 - Uriah Stafford (b. 1801) M. to Elizabeth Hanks
(2) December 12, 1834 - Joseph A. Stafford (b. 2-11-1815) M. to Cynthia Montgomery
(3) April 20, 1837 - John L. Stafford (b. 11-11-1817) M. to Judah Malone
(4) May 31, 1838 - Sarah Ann Stafford (b. 10-28-1820) M. to James Robertson

No. 4, Sarah Ann Stafford, was Bird L's. fourth child. She married the son of a neighbor whose farm joined Bird Stafford's farm. We have no further record of this this daughter or her family.

FROM THE WILLS OF JACKSON COUNTY, TENNESSEE
(Copied at Nashville - 11-12-1960)
From the Will of Uriah Stafford, dated June 8, 1874 - Probated in July Court 1883

He mentions being advanced in years. Names wife Patsy Stafford. Specifies that after his death, "$50.00 to go to Mat Heddy and to Eloka Gipson. Walker Heddy, the daughter of William Heddy, all my Lick lands lying in the 16th District of Jackson County, and to William Heddy and his bodily heirs the home tract of land whereon I now live including the _____ field." His friend Samuel Johnson named executor.

Witness:
Eliza Gore

Signed
"Uriah Stafford"

Note: This is Bird Stafford's brother b. 1801. He died at 82. This seems to be his third wife. He married Elizabeth Hanks in Hardeman Co., Tennessee, in 1825. Then later he has a wife Martha, as shown in the U. S. Census for Jackson Co.

Bird Stafford Taxes - Hardeman Co.

From Tax Rolls - Hardeman County, Tennessee:

Bird Stafford		1824
Bird Stafford		1825

A list of the lands entered in the 9th and 10th Surveyor's District - From January 1, 1824 to January 1, 1825 - Subject to 1825 Taxes:

Bird Stafford	Entry No. 1189	100 Acres
Bird Stafford	10th District	33-1/2 Acres
		1826
Uriah Stafford	1 free poll State	3.00
	Co.	3.00 1826
Bird Stafford		1827
Uriah Stafford	1 free poll	1827

In 1828 Bird and Uriah both appear.

1829 Bird L. and Uriah both appear, also John L. Parker.

1830 - Bird and Uriah - Uriah with one slave.

1831-1832-1833-1834 - Bird and Uriah and Needam Jackson and Silas Jackson.

John L. Parker also on Tax List.

In 1839 - Bird L., Joseph A. (Bird's oldest son), and John Stafford (Bird's second oldest son), all on Tax Roll.

1840 shows John L. Parker - 180 acres - 1 slave.

No Stafford is shown on the 1840 U. S. Census in Hardeman County. There were none in the county in 1960.

Early in 1840 Bird L. Stafford, with his family, slaves, stock and household goods, moved to Missouri, traveling in wagons drawn by oxen and on horseback, along with other families who were going to Missouri to settle and establish new homes. They traveled along Indian and buffalo trails and over very poor roads, crossing many streams on crude rafts including the great Mississippi. He and his wife and all of his children, except Joseph A. and Sarah Ann (Mrs. Jas. Robertson), who had married in Hardeman County, settled thirty miles northeast of Springfield, near March, Missouri, in what is now Dallas County. On February 3, 1840, he landed on the place where he died. He was a soldier in the War of 1812, and, although previously a Democrat, during the Civil War, he was a strong supporter of the Union. In 1863 he married Mrs. Elizabeth Nimo Wingo. From this union two daughters were born. He died March 2, 1867, and is buried in Mount Olive Cemetary, next to his first wife, Lucy. From the 1850 U. S. Census for Dallas County, Missouri, we have listed Bird L. and two of his sons along with some of the old timers, indicating their ages and state of birth.

MIRACLE

So many years
I have lived,
And every hour
Has been so full,
Or overfull
Of this or that. . .
But yet
Only one moment
Stands out defined and clear
Against the background of my life. . .
One moment!
So stupendous, so profound!
So utterly amazing
That when I think of it now,
Or ever,
I close my eyes
To shut the present out,
And live it all again. . .
That first glimpse of my baby's face!

----Esther Nilsson

LITTLE TOWN

I like to live in a little town,
Where the trees meet across the Street;
Where you wave your hand and say "Hello"
To everyone you meet.

I like to stand for a moment
Outside the grocery Store
And listen to the friendly gossip
Of the folks that live next door.

For life is interwoven
With the friends we learn to know;
And we hear their joys and sorrows
As we daily come and go.

So I like to live in a little town
I care no more to roam
For every house in a little town
Its more than a house; its home.

WHEN I GET TIME

When I get time--
I know what I shall do:
I'll cut the leaves of all my books
And read them through and through.

When I get time--
I'll write some letters then
That I have owed for weeks and weeks
To many, many men.

When I get time--
I'll pay those calls I owe,
And with those bills, those countless bills,
I will not be so slow.

When I get time--
I'll regulate my life
In such a way that I may get Acquainted with my wife.

When I get time--
Oh glorious dream of bliss!
A month, a year, ten years from now--
But I can't finish this--
I've no more time.

Dallas County was first named Niangua County, but because of the difficulty of spelling or pronouncing it, it was changed December 10, 1844 to Dallas in honor of the Vice-President of the United States.

The towns from North to South are: Olive, Red Top, March (Dogtown), Charity (Hogeye), Foose, Long Lane, Buffalo (County Seat), Windyville, Louisburg, Plaid, Urbana, Lead Mine, Tunas and Celt.

The first white settler in the county was Mark Reynolds. He moved with his family from near Nashville, Tennessee, in 1831 and settled on the Pome-de-Terre River. The next year he moved on to Buffalo Head Prairie and improved a claim Northeast of the Blue Mounds. Buffalo Head Prairie derived its name from the fact that in the year 1833 Mark Reynolds, placed a Buffalo's head on a stake, and from this circumstance it has ever since been called "Buffalo Head Prairie".

The first land sales in Dallas County began in Springfield on January 1, 1839.

When these first settlers came, they found the country a vast wilderness, inhabited by wild animals and frequented by Indians -- no roads, nothing but Indian and Buffalo trails. Wild game, including elk, deer, wolves, wild cat, some bears and a few straggling buffalo, and hunting birds were abundant. The only trading point was Springfield -- thirty-nine miles distant, which had one store and a blacksmith shop.

Buffalo, the County Seat, was first composed of twenty-one blocks of six lots each on plots of land formerly owned by Martin Rambleman and William E. Williams and was surveyed in 1841. About 1838, the first buildings, two log cabins had been erected upon the site. One by William E. Williams and the other by Joseph F. Miles. Miles lived to be considerably over one hundred. The first store at Buffalo was opened by Samuel Williams, about one-quarter mile from the location of the square. As soon as the town was surveyed he moved his store to a large log building located at the Southwest corner of the public square. A few years later William L. and I. N. Morrow opened the second store.

The first Court house, a small two-story brick structure was built at Buffalo (County Seat) in 1846-1847. During the war, the lower story was used by the Union Guards as a rendezvous and fortress. On October 18, 1863, a body of Confederate troops surrounded the court house, captured the inmates and burned the building, destroying most of the County Records. The population of Dallas County was: 1850 - 3,648; 1860 - 5,892; 1880 - 9,263.

Some of the well-known citizens of the county at the time who were related to different Stafford families are presented below:

John S. Edmisson - The Edmisson family has been well represented in Dallas County, Missouri, since 1837 when John S., with his parents, Emanuel and Nancy (Johnson) Edmisson located in Washington Township. They were among the early settlers of that area. John S. was born October 20, 1820 in Hardin County, Tennessee; on July 8, 1847, he married Elizabeth Wollard, a daughter of Nathaniel and Margaret (Hardison) Wollard, natives of Murray County, Tennessee. He later became a successful farmer and stock dealer. His children were George T., Louisa R. (wife of James L. Randle), Richard C., Nancy M. (wife of John Williamson) and Robert N.

On the night of September 25, 1863, John S. was killed by the militia. He was robbed and his house burned. His wife's father, a minister of the Baptist Church, had been killed September 1, 1863. Mr. Wollard's house was also robbed and burned.

George T. Edmisson was a prominent attorney and Notary Public of Buffalo, Missouri. He was born in Dallas County September 11, 1849. Reared on a farm. In 1877 he received an appointment to fill a vacancy as County Clerk. Elected to this office the following year, and remained in the position until 1883. His spare time was spent in studying Blackstone, and he was admitted to the bar in 1887. He inlisted in the 56th Missouri Infantry, U. S. Volunteers, April 1, 1865, at the age of 16 and served to the close of the war. He was a member of the Masonic Fraternity, Blue Lodge, charter member of the R. A. Chapter, and a member of the Commandry. He married Amanda M. Stafford October 29, 1868. Their children were Lizzie, Felix C., George I., Robert E., Albert Parker and Clarence.

Judge John Franklin was the son of John and Susan (Foster) Franklin, natives of North Carolina. They were married in North Carolina and immigrated to East Tennessee, going from there to Central Illinois. Then to Moniteau County, and finally to Dallas County where John, Sr. died in 1868 at the age of 86. He was a Republican in politics. Susan died in 1852 - age 55. They had eleven sons and one daughter, Nancy. She married Wm. Green Stafford, who was a Union Soldier and died during the War. The son John who was Judge, was born in Moniteau County, Missouri, August 20, 1834. December 23, 1852, he married Miss Lovina Flanagan. He enlisted in Company "B", 24th Missouri Infantry, Federal Army, and served 16-1/2 months. He received gunshot wounds that disabled him. He was one of the esteemed citizens of the county.

J. K. P. Maddux was one of the representative farmers of Dallas County. He was born in Missouri 3-9-1845, and was a son of Alfred Burton and Caroline (Brown) Maddux, the former a native of Tennessee. He located in Dallas County in 1849.

Moses Bennett was born in North Carolina 4-9-1813 and his wife, Sarah (Wollard) Bennett was born 3-2-1817 in Maury County, Tennessee. Their five children living in 1889 were Nathaniel L., Harriet (wife of J. D. Newport), James C., Martha J. (wife of J. W. Jones) and John Moses. Moses was a successful farmer and stock man, and was active in politics. He was a Democrat.

Nathaniel L. Bennett, the eldest son was born 11-27-1835 in Maury County, Tennessee and became a prominent citizen of Dallas County, Missouri. He gave considerable attention to raising well-bred horses, many of which won good records on the race tracks. His choice of cattle was Shorthorn and Galloway breeds. He introduced Poland-China and Berkshire hogs to the lower part of Dallas County. He served in the State Militia for six months during the Civil War, participating in battles at Lexington.

Then in 1863 he joined the 16th Provisional Cavalry, U.S.A., and served until the close of the war. March 6, 1856, he married Elizabeth Henson and she became the mother of their ten children Moses W., Mary Frances (wife of Newton C. Stafford), Harriet D., Sallie R., Lucinda J., Albert D., Ben D., Jack T., Edmond and George M.

M. Reynolds - Upon the breaking out of the Mexican War he enlisted in the Colonial Gilpens Battalion of Mounted Dragoons, and served as orderly sergeant of Capt. Jones Company, serving as escort and keeping the lines of communications open from Missouri through the Indian Territory and New Mexico, wintering at Santa Fe. This is believed to be the company in which James M. Stafford served.

Mark Reynolds, Grandfather of M. L. Reynolds, a native of Polk County, was a soldier in the War of 1812. He came to what is now Polk County, Missouri in 1831, from near Nashville, Tennessee. He was first Assessor of Dallas County, and served eighteen year.

A BOY AND A BIKE

A boy, a bike, and an open road,
A jiggle, a bump, and a jog,
A rustle of leaves and a blinking toad,
A tree, a fence, and a bog;
The things he does and the things he sees
Are the things he knows and likes.
A muddy pond and a clump of trees
Were made for a boy with a bike.

EASTER BONNET

Oh, the hats (?) that's what they called them
On the counters, in each store
Gave me moments of confusion
When I'd tried on three or four.

As I wandered 'round the counters
Trying these and trying those,
Soon I found a sweet creation
With a great big purple rose.

"It's a dream!" the salesgirl simpered,
"And it's very, very new.
"But you've put in on quite backwards,
"Let me place it right, for you."

Then I gazed into the mirror, as
I viewed the cute chapeau. . .
When a voice behind me sputtered
"That's my hat . . . I'll have you know!"

"It's the one I bought last Easter.
Can't you see it isn't new?"
Then I said, "I guess we're even,
For you have my old one, too."

Then the other woman reddened,
But we laughed and left the shop,
To the salesgirl's consternation
With a first-rate, even swap.

Chapter 5

JOSEPH A., JOHN L., SARAH ANN and WM. GREENE STAFFORD FAMILIES

Joseph Adderson Stafford Family

Joseph A. Stafford was Bird L.'s oldest child. All that we could find concerning him was his birth - February 11, 1815 (probably in Jackson County, Tennessee), and his marriage on December 25, 1834, in Hardeman County, Tennessee, to Miss Cynthia Montgomery, a daughter of James Montgomery who lived on a farm adjoining Bird L.'s property.

John L. Stafford

John L. Stafford came with his family to Missouri at the time his father Bird L. came in 1840. However, he moved about 1843 or 1844 to Webster County, where he spent the rest of his life.

Webster County Biographies of Some Early Settlers

Micajah Aldridge, a miller and son of Richard and Lucy (Pleasant) Aldridge, was born in Caswell County, North Carolina May 10, 1832. The parents were natives of North Carolina and died in Webster County.

Thomas Anderson, farmer and stock raiser, of Webster County, was born in Putman County, Tennessee, December 9, 1844, and was the son of Edward and Lucinda (Mahaney) Anderson, natives of Virginia. Died when Thomas was fourteen or fifteen, both members of Methodist Church.

John Bass, born November 25, 1828, in Marion County, Tennessee - Father Andrew Bass was born in North Carolina. They located near Springfield, Missouri, in 1830.

History of Webster County

On the summit of the Ozark Range, Marshfield, the County Seat, is 1,505 feet altitude. Very high-quality soil, some of the best glass sand is found near Marshfield, good building stone and good brick soil throughout the county. Some lead, zinc and iron and copper. Excellent stock raising country. William Mooney visited Webster County area in the 1830's and located for a short time. Soon the Flannagan family located within the area of Marshfield. The Bowers and John Starnes settled here too. Thomas Marlin and his sons settled on the Marlin Prairie in 1833 - 1834. Lazarus Nichols settled three miles west of Marshfield in 1837 or 1838. The Allens, Lettermans, Griers, Siloys, Puryears, Hoggards, Bluits, Bails, Peter Jump, Rhodes, Tom B. Neaves, Haymes, Kellers, Jones, L. S. Cass, Nathan T. Smith, Bodenhamers, Pattersons, John L. Prior, Gentry, Cardwells, Hartley, Burford, Cantrell, Hargles, Harley, Hoover, and Davis family and other names were among those of the early land buyers of Webster County. Webster County had 220 slaves in 1850 but less than 100 by 1860. Slaves were taken South and sold because of the political threats.

Webster County was organized in 1855. The expenditures of $975.18-1/2 from General Funds; $171.00 from Road Funds, and $789.81-1/2 from School Funds, was reported in 1856.

Funds to build a court house were to be secured from sale of lots in Marshfield. The lots sold at auction brought from $21.00 to $261.50. Total proceeds amounted to $4,385.75 to build a court house.

William Greene Stafford

Born in Hardeman County, Tennessee, in 1822, he was the fifth child of Bird L. Stafford (1796-1867), and Lucy (Parker) Stafford, both from North Carolina. He married Nancy Franklin, in Dallas County. He served in the Union Army and died in the military service near St. Louis, Missouri. This family lineage is included in the data sheets.

"I like the Anglo-Saxon Speech
With its direct revealings:
It take a hold, and seems to reach
'Way down into your feelings.

I pray that, risen from the dead,
I may in Glory stand--
A crown perhaps upon my head,
But a needle in my hand."

From Grandma's Prayer--Field

TIME

Time is minutes,
Time is years,
Time is wisdom
Between the ears.

Time is past,
Time is ahead,
Time is money
For daily bread.

Time is all
That lies between
Life's beginning
And final scene.

Time--There's nothing
It's not the stuff of.
Time is what
There's not enough of.

Chapter 6

JAMES MADISON STAFFORD FAMILY
and HIS WIFE'S FAMILY

James Madison Stafford, called Uncle Matt by his neighbors, was one of the older settlers of Dallas County, Missouri. He was born in Hardeman County, Tennessee, February 5, 1827, and was the eighth child born to Bird L. and Lucy (Parker) Stafford. Lucy was the daughter of John L. and Lucy Parker, who emigrated from North Carolina to Hardeman County, Tennessee, and who died in Hardeman County in the 1840's.

James came to Dallas County with his parents when he was thirteen years old. He was a U. S. Soldier and served in the Mexican War. He was in a number of fierce battles with the Indians on the plains. After the war, he returned home and started working at the carpenter trade, and later he engaged in farming and blacksmithing. He was without means on starting in life for himself, but his labors were attended with good success, and he became the owner of some 600 acres of land. He gave all but 240 acres to his sons of the first marriage. May 30, 1850 he married Rebecca Avaline Maddux, a daughter of Nathaniel and Rebecca Maddux, natives of Polk County, Tennessee. (They were early settlers of Dallas County.) Rebecca A. Stafford was born September 21, 1832 and died in Dallas County August 4, 1871. She and James had twelve children born to them.

James Madison Stafford married Mary B. Harmon (b. 11-5-1843), daughter of James Harmon, who was born in Missouri and died in Dallas County November 25, 1882. To this union five children were born - Lilly, Curtis, Hettie, Floyd and Mary Ellen. James M. was an elder in the Presbyterian Church, and a member of the Masonic Fraternity.

Shortly after his first marriage James was sent on a very important errand by his Father Bird L., and his Mother Lucy, back to Hardeman County, Tennessee. He made this trip there and back on horseback and alone, over poorly marked roads and trails and through a sparsely settled region. He returned with a considerable amount of cash, the money received from the Parker Estate, which he carried in the saddle bags.

The following are copies of documents found in the Court house at Bolivar, Tennessee, pertaining to the Lucy Parker Stafford legacy and her fathers' estate.

The James M. Stafford properties adjoined and practically surrounded his father's farm. The slaves, held by his Father Bird L., were freed at the close of the Civil War and were taken to Springfield, Missouri. But they kept returning from time to time to the James Stafford home to live. His children remembered them well -- "Math" and "Chane" and others took care of them and kept in touch with the family until the youngest of the first set of Stafford children were grown.

Our Grandfather James Madison Stafford's first house was a large log building with a huge fireplace in the middle of the South wall. Later he added a large lean-to on the East and on the West sides full length. Many of the Grandchildren can remember this building, which was used as a blacksmith shop, cabinet shop and storage. Sometime, about 1870, he built a conventional frame two-story farmhouse, just North of the original home. Here the children and grandchildren enjoyed coming to visit Pap or Grandpap as the case might be. Often a number of families came on the same day. He always had plenty of good meals and fruits of all kinds, and a garden unexcelled by anyone. He always kept a number of hives of bees. Peanuts in a gunny sack were usually found in the hall by the stairs. In late summer during the afternoon he invited everyone out onto the large back porch to enjoy his fine large red-meated watermelons. We can see him now cutting and serving the group. If we were visiting in the winter and staying overnight, dishpans full of popcorn, popped in the fireplace, and some of the most fragrant and delicious apples anyone ever ate were brought out for everyone to enjoy.

The writer's first memory of being at "Grandpa's" was at the age of four and Grandfather was 69. My Mother took her three children there to wait for Dad who had gone to sell a team of very wild and tough mules that had run away numerous times. They had almost killed my Father when a neighbor's dog scared them, as he was riding on the running gear of the farm wagon. When they came to a spring branch crossing, the rear portion of the wagon came uncoupled and one foot was caught so that Father was dragged until they came to the next stream crossing, around the corner where he was released. When he returned from the sale we all were very happy that he had sold the team although he received only $40.00, and we children were pleased because he had brought us some new school books.

At this time Grandfather was gray, in fact his hair, mustache and beard were white. He had dark, sharp eyes, was a crack shot, and an excellent horseman. He enjoyed visiting his many children, who had all settled in the community around his place or in nearby communities. One of the remarkable things about his family was that fifteen of the seventeen born lived to marry and have families of their own. He had a new buggy when he was about seventy, but he often chose to ride Old Cooper, a muscular well built, sixteen-hand horse. He often walked to my parents' home, about half a mile from his house, always using his cane.

The following items are of interest to many of the James M. Stafford family. As the author concludes this chapter he is tempted to write of many of these relatives who are so well known and who come to mind. There are many incidents, jokes and occasions that are remembered but space will not permit the inclusion of them.

(Ava) Avaline (Stafford) Spry - Letter

One of her several interesting letters to the author who admired her for her fine qualities and enjoyed very much a number of visits with her. She had a very strong love for her people and was always thrilled with the report of any special success or accomplishment of any Stafford.

"October 20, 1954

My Dear Cousin Ernest and All,

Such a lovely gesture, your taking time to write me such a darling letter while you were in Europe. I'm so proud of you all and I'll be hoping to hear you relate, in detail some of the wonders you contacted. And the dear daughter, how I'd love to hear her play. I'm sure her experience and hard work has eclipsed anything in the entire family. Twas surely lovely that she, too, could enjoy the trip along with both you and Anna.

I'm ashamed to have been so neglectful. However, when I tell you that more than one year ago I was stricken with heart trouble and have done but little writing, you will forgive. It has been a hard fight, just sitting after all the busy years. Newton has had surgery - one half of his lung removed. Was in hospital for nine weeks. Is flying to L. A. tomorrow for a final check up. He has a lovely grove of lemons. Has 10 acres of trees that came from buds off the Prior Lisbon at Escondido. He does so much want to see this tree.

I do hope your Mother is still active and well. This letter is for her too. I'd just love to have another one of her good newsy letters.

Mary Olive has a nice new home and I live with her. She is a wonderful nurse as well as a faithful daughter. I live with her. She now works in the capacity of nurse in the city schools.

Must hush, hoping to hear from you at your earliest convenience. If you are in Yuma be sure and come to see us. After all the Stafford tree is growing frail.

Loving You All,

Ava"

John P. Stafford, a Son of Jas. M.

Uncle John Stafford and my father, Bird, were together a great deal when they were boys and young fellows. The things they did for pleasure depended upon the circumstances. They had to make use of the things about them. And some of us can remember the experience they used to tell about when the snow was on the ground. There was a straw stack located below the barn, where the cows and young cattle were running. These animals had eaten a number of deep holes around the stack. On this particular Sunday afternoon, the younger set were having a lot of fun with their sleds. They tied ropes which were attached to the sleds to a cow's tail while she was eating deep in one of the holes. When their smack and whoop were given, the cow or steer would back out and run with fright down over the hill and down into the pasture below. After awhile John came down to the barn to saddle his horse to ride over to see his girl. When he saw the fun the others were having he thought he'd like to take a spin. He took one or two and getting away he tore his trousers to his Sunday suit. He then went to the house, changed to his "old clothes", went back to the sled and the fun for the rest of the afternoon.

There is an interesting sequence to this story. Soon after this Sunday, one evening, when the cows were being milked out south of the house, John, who happened to be there at the time of the milking (the milking was done by the girls), was tempted to use one of the cows and one of the sleds, leaning against the yard fence, for a good speedy ride. He tied on, gave a whoop and was off. The cow headed down the road that lead to the Uncle Curt Stafford Place. She was running fast, but finally veered off the trail and ran between two trees, the two runners striking both trees at the same time. The rider remembered seeing the cow's tail fly in two and feeling himself being thrown forceably forward. His greatest damage was to a thumb that struck a tree or the ground in such a way as to injure it. The members of the family were not likely to tell on each other, but they were afraid Pap would come out the next morning as he often did, and observe the newly bobbed tail and ask how it happened. He did come out the next morning, and was walking among the cows, when one of the girls, who was milking a cow nearby, heard him say to himself aloud, "Dog bite it! White's dogs have been chasing these cows and have torn that cow's tail off!"

FELIX HARDISON
Pilot of the Giant Bomber, Suzy Q.

Felix M. Hardison, Graduate of Springfield, Missouri, High School. He was a basketball star while in Springfield High School. In college he was in R.O.T.C. and early showed his abilities as a marksman receiving a medal for marksmanship and qualified for sharpshooter in rifle. He received a B. S. Degree in Geology and Mining at the University of Idaho. M. S. Degree in Earth Sciences - Montana State College. Base commander, Lincoln Air Force Base (Nebraska). Active in the Chamber of Commerce, Service Club and community activities. He early went into Air Service and finished with the Class of August 1939 at Air Corps Advanced Flying School - Kelly Field, Texas. He had in his early experience in flying many air mishaps but came out unhurt or with slight injuries. In World War II he was rapidly advanced to Major and led many daring and successful raids which covered a wide area of the war theater. He served as a pilot of the Flying Fortress. Many remember him as the pilot of the famous Giant Bomber, Suzy Q. He came out of the war as a Lieutenant Colonel and has since been advanced to Colonel. NOTE - Felix was a grandson of Martha (Stafford) Hardison.

MADDUX FAMILY

From letters written by Alfred Benton Maddux to Daisy Pillman during 1934 and to Myrtle O'Bannon during 1937:

Our ancestors (Maddux) came from London, England, in an early day, toward the middle of 1700. The Madduxes came to Baltimore, Maryland. Some of them came on to Shenandoah Valley, Virginia. Some went to Tennessee, near Athens, and from there to Missouri. Three Uncles went to California. Two of them in 1849 and my half-Uncle Mark Howard went there in 1856.

Grandfather Maddux (NATHANIEL MADDUX) served in the War of 1812, with great honor. After his death in 1862, Grandmother received a pension as a war widow.

From Buffalo Reflex -

His son LAFAYETTE JACKSON MADDUX was born in Pineville, McDonald County, August 14, 1854. He was brought to California at the age of 2-1/2. He was educated in the public schools of Santa Rosa, graduated from Methodist College, Nevada, also a graduate in law from Harvard 1879. In June 1878, L. J. visited Buffalo on his return to California from Harvard law school. He rode horseback with his grandmother (Rebecca) who was then 79 years old, to Buffalo from her farm some ten miles distant. They stayed two nights with the O'Bannon family and spent a day with Starling Maddux, who was the youngest son, then rode ten miles farther on to the home of Dr. White, who had married Margaret Maddux, one of her daughters, then deceased.

Lafayette located at Healdsburg, Sonoma County, California. He started to practice law in Nevada after returning from Harvard, but located in Modesto 1880. In 1886 he was a democratic candidate for Representative to Congress. Governor Budd appointed him director of the State Reform school at Ione, Amador County, California. He was a successful lawyer and judge. Grandson of Nathaniel and Rebecca, District Attorney, State Senator, Superior Judge, at 85 one of three accident commissioners, State of California. In 1879 he married May Blythe Simmons. They had two children, both Berkeley graduates: (1) Esther

(2) Parker S. (died 1956 or 57) Who was President of San Francisco Bank.

LORENZA MADDUX, son of Nathaniel and Rebecca Maddux, married _____ Gibson, a sister of Serena. Came to California with brother Parker 1857. Located near Santa Rosa, California. Had 12 children.

Mark Howard (half-brother), son of Rebecca Howard Maddux. After crossing the plains in 1857, Mark Howard settled in Ukiah, California. Had 12 children.

Letter to D. Pillman 1934, Myrtle O'Bannon 1937 -

ALFRED BURTON MADDUX (son of Nathaniel Maddux). Born in Tennessee. In 1849, he came to Dallas County, Missouri, from Texas County, Missouri. He married Tamsey Caroline Brown, who was born in North Carolina and taken by her parents to Tennessee when she was six years of age. She was Scotch, Irish and Holland Dutch. She was a cousin to Andrew Jackson.

He was appointed to six offices in 1868 by U. S. Government. He held court in Buffalo, Boliver, Warsaw and Springfield. The offices were: Circuit Judge, Probate and County Judge, Circuit Clerk and Treasurer of County. There were no banks in those days. He had to take care of all the County's money and there wasn't a dollar lost while he was running those offices.

Buffalo Reflex, 1958 -

After being destroyed twice by fire during the Civil War, the Dallas County Court house was again burned in 1955. As County Clerk it fell the responsibility of Alfred Burton Maddux of compiling another set of books for the county. This he did painstakingly compiling the necessary data for a new set of books.

Since the County was comparatively new (organized 1845) it was possible to formulate new books by using records he was able to obtain, supplemented by memory - his and the memory of others. From the office of the Clerk of County Court he apparently went to the office of Circuit Clerk and Ex-Officio Recorder, since many deeds issued about that time bear his signature. These bear mute evidence of his ability and efficiency as County recorder. All were lost in the third fire.

(a) The father and both of his children, who were grandchildren of Cynthia Avaline Nichols, died as a result of a tragic auto accident which occurred on July 12, 1959. B. Green Lawn C., Spgfd., Mo.

According to an article (written about Alfred Burton Maddux and early days in Dallas County) by C. Cummins for a Springfield paper in 1934, he moved his family from Dallas County to Jackson County in 1874.

He died at Raytown, Missouri, 1896. He married Tamsey Caroline Brown and they had 14 children who were:

1 - Peter.
2 - James K. P. Maddux, married to Martha Benton.
3 - Nathaniel Pinkney Maddux, married to Hannah Roper.
4 - Martha J. Maddux, married to Riley Stanley.
5 - Rebecca Evelyn Maddux, married to George W. O'Bannon (1849-1885).
6 - Cinthy Maddux.
7 - Will Maddux, married to Laura Nicholas (____-1839).
8 - Matilda Maddux, married to Ed Brown.
9 - Sabra Maddux, married to George Sapp.
10 - Betty Maddux, married to Darst.
11 - Emma Maddux, married to Ed Rice.
12 - Alfred Benton Maddux, married to Theresa Alice Brown (b. 7-13-1862/d. 7-9-38).
13 - Robert Maddux, married
14 - Ed Maddux, married

Much of the above material on the Maddux family was furnished the author by Mrs. Maude Jones of Escondido, California. She is a great-granddaughter of Alfred Burton Maddux.

THE SEARCHER

"I'm making up my list of boys
And girls," said Father Time,
"To rule and lead and help the world
In every land and clime
A quarter century from now.
I've room for hundreds yet,
And I go hunting everywhere
A larger list to get.

"I find that everybody I meet
Would like to see his name
Written in golden letters, high
Upon the roll of fame;
But some are fond of cigarettes,
Some gamble on the sly,
Some drink, some keep bad company,
Some shrink, and others lie.

"The girls would all delight to see
Their names upon the roll;
But some are fond of finery,
And some cannot control
Their tongues; while others, with a laugh,
Throw all their chance away
By idle folly, or are spoiled
By temper's angry sway.

"And so my list has many gaps,
And many names, I need,
Since none except the strong, the pure,
The self-controlled should lead.
So I go searching everywhere,
The time is short, you see;
I need a thousand boys and girls--
Alas! where can they be?

Chapter 7

Andrew Jackson Stafford

Born in Hardeman County, Tennessee, in 1831, the 5th son of Bird L. Stafford, he came to Dallas County, Missouri, when he was nine. He married Liza Chapman who was born in Tennessee. They had three sons and one daughter.

He joined the Union Army at Marshfield and died when he was in his early thirties while he was in the service.

ANDREW JACKSON STAFFORD

Cynthia Jane (Stafford) Chapman

Born 1833, Hardeman County, Tennessee, and married in Dallas County. Little is known about this family as they moved to Northern Arkansas. She and her sister, Sarah Ann, who married in Tennessee, are the only daughters of Bird who lived to be grown.

See Dallas County Census in Chapter V for further information on this family.

Lewis Lafayette Stafford

Lewis Lafayette Stafford was the 13th child of Bird L. Stafford (1796-1867). He was born April 13, 1836 in Hardeman County, Tennessee, and married Matilda Jane Cheek in Buffalo, Missouri, October 23, 1852. They celebrated their 70th Wedding Anniversary, Sunday, October 22, 1922, with a beautiful day and a large attendance of relatives from far and near and many friends. They had spent thirty-five years at that time in Bolivar, the County Seat of Polk County.

Polk County, Missouri

The county contains a little more than 409,000 acres. It is on the Northern slope of the Ozark divide. Average elevation is 1,050 feet. It consists of hills, valleys, prairies and timber lands, with good drainage. The largest stream within the County is Pomme-de-Terre, a tributary of the Osage, which empties into the Missouri River near Jefferson City. There are many caves in the county, the largest explored is Leiths Cave.

There are many springs, but Garden Springs is best known. A hotel and bath house were built in 1888. Vivid descriptions of the area with its broad prairies, fertile valleys, clear sparkling springs and brooks induced hundreds to seek their future in the new County.

Some settlers came before the Indians retired. The Indians demanded rent from the whites, payable in corn or other produce, and they became quite troublesome though they committed no serious depredation. The threats alarmed the settlers, and they selected a representative, J. N. Sloan, to visit and petition the governor for relief. He made the journey to Jefferson City on horseback. The early settler lived on claims. The Government lands in Polk County were first opened to entry in 1837. Corn, being the main grain grown, was first ground in a mortar with a heavy pestle and sifted through a hand seive. Then came the hand mills, and then horse mills, and later water mills, which were propelled by the old fashioned "tub wheels". Settlers quarried the millstones out of the hills. The first boards in the county were hand-sawed by two men, one above and one below the log. The first saw mills were primitive affairs. John S. Lemmon built the first mill on the Sac River in 1835. By 1862 there were four saw mills and ten grist mills. A few frame dwellings had been built prior to the Civil War. The first grain was hauled to Booneville, Missouri, by ox teams and brought 32 - 1/2¢ per bushel. The best horses brought $25.00 to $35.00, good cows about $6.00. The first market was at Independence, Missouri, and the products were sold in Santa Fe. Clothing was home-produced. Lewis Lafayette Stafford, his children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, with their companions have done much -- beginning before the dawn of the Twentieth Century and continuing right down to the present time, to develop and improve the county and area.

Bolivar Couple Celebrate 70th Weddin Anniversary. Oct 22-1922

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Stafford, aged 86 and 87 respectively, celebrated Sunday their 70th wedding anniversary. The anniversary proper was on Monday, but at the request of their many friends and relatives they observed it on Sunday so that there might be a better chance to attend.

The day was beautiful and ideal for a big out-door basket dinner participated in by the entire community. Three big tables, extending clear acros[illegible]the spacious yard, were filled [illegible]d things to eat and still there [illegible]ny who could not be served at [illegible] tables.

At the head of the table where the aged bride and groom sat was a beautiful wedding cake, prepared by a grandson and grand-daughter, Alva and Miss Ima Stafford, of Mobile, Ala., and sent here for the occasion. W. S. White presided over the ceremonies. Prof. P. T. Harman, dean of Bible in Southwest Baptist College, officiated at the re-uniting ceremony, prefacing the ceremony proper by a few very appropriate remarks on the march of human events and the progress of the nation during these 70 years. Dr. W. D. Powell, secretary of the Baptist foreign mission board of Richmond, Va., who was a guest of the occasion, offered thanks for the blessings of the day and later made a short address.

After the meal, special music was furnished by a select choir and a number of short addresses made.

Lewis Lafayette Stafford and Miss Matilda Jane Cheek were married in Dallas County, Missouri, October 23, 1852, by a Rev. Moore. Both are ~~Kentuckians~~ by birth and Missourians by adoption. They moved to Bolivar thirty-five years ago and have lived on the same homestead all these many years.

Eight children have been born to them, seven of whom are still living. They are, in the order of their ages, James Stafford, Collinsville, Okla.; Mrs. Sarah Chapman (deceased); John C. Stafford, Bolivar; Lewis H. Stafford, Bolivar; Mrs. Anna Russell, Bolivar; Mrs. Lizzie Stallings, Los Angeles, Cali.; Mrs. Van Brashears, Bolivar; William R. Stafford, Bolivar.

Among the relatives from a distance were William Stafford and family of Buffalo, Mo.; John Stafford and family, Fair Grove, R-1; J. A. Nichols and family, Fair Grove, R-1; B. O. Stafford and family, Fair Grove, R-1; Mrs. Laura Lipes, Flemington, R-1.

Among those present were J. A. Pickel and family; John Stafford and family of Buffalo; Mrs. Mosher; Mrs. Lunceford and children, T. A. Welch and family; Hays Long and family; S. B. Ashby; S. H. Boren; J. F. Fox; Houston McPheeters; Bud Williams and family; J. A. Mosbarger; S. Chapter 8

JOSEPH STAFFORD (1785 to 1890)

Joseph Stafford, the youngest son of Laban Stafford and a brother of William Stafford, the author's own great-great grandfather, was born in Caswell Co., N.C. in 1785. He was married June 9, 1809, to Nancy Whitlow. He sold his N.C. farm to George Lea of Person County. N.C. according to records in Caswell County Court House, January 30, 1814, Book R. page 103, and is next found in Jackson County, Tennessee, in the 1820 U.S. Census along with his brothers, John, William and Laban. We find him again in the 1840 U.S. Census in the same county with brothers John, William and Laban and another brother James.

The 1850 U.S. Census of Jackson County, Tennessee, lists Joseph Stafford as 65 years old, a farmer, born in North Carolina and Nancy born in Virginia with his five youngest children.

His son Joseph Junior is also listed as a farmer, 30 years of age, wife Elizabeth, and two children, Joseph W. Stafford (4) and John H. Stafford (3). Joseph Stafford, Sr. is shown in the 1870 U.S. Census as 85 years old, Nancy 83 years old, and apparently Calvin Heady and his wife Nancy are living with them and they have a daughter Sarah Heady. This family seems to have come from North Carolina, so it would seem here that John H. or John Henry (known as Yankee John) Stafford was a grandson of Joseph, Sr. This John Henry, born 1848, married Martha J. Netherton. Joseph, Elizah and Johnnie W. were their sons. Martha was buried in the Stafford graveyard in Jackson County, Tennessee. Their son, Johnnie, or Little Yank, was Justice of the Peace at Gainsboro and was elected to the State Senate.

John Henry later married Mattie J. Meadows. One of their sons, Grover Cleveland Stafford, married Anna J. York in Gainsboro, Tennessee, in 1903, and had four children, the third being Jo Elizabeth who is Jo Stafford the well-known singer. She married Paul Weston, a musical composer and director. They have a son and daughter and live in California.

In January 1961 we secured an appointment by telephone for an interview with Grover Cleveland Stafford at his home in Long Beach, California. We were very cordially received by him and his wife and we enjoyed a very pleasant two hour visit.

JOHN HENRY STAFFORD and Martha (Netherton) Stafford's first son, Joseph Elijah, born February 7, 1867, at Gainsboro, Tennessee, married Annie Eaton (born April 17, 1868, at Gainsboro, Tennessee) June 10, 1888. They had eight children. We had the happy privilege of meeting Annie Eaton Stafford in November 1960 at her daughter's home in Donelson, Tennessee. Mrs. Stafford was then past 92 years old. Her daughter, Hazel (Stafford) Cullum and her husband, Roger H. Cullum, were very kind to us and very helpful and cooperative in giving us much information concerning the Stafford's of Jackson County, Tennessee. It was through their help and the information we got from Grover Cleveland Stafford that we were able to trace this branch of the family back to Laban Stafford.

record sheets will trace this family through for you. It is regrettable that we are unable at this late date, because of the loss of the Jackson County records by fire and the deaths of the previous generation who had the information needed now, to trace William and Joseph's brothers families, including at least John, James, Laban Jr., Eli, Henry and Adam, and no doubt some of their children as well as their sisters and husbands and their families.

We made two trips to Gainsboro, Tennessee, spent one day at the Court House and in the County looking up the oldest Staffords and visiting several of the graveyards, trying to get all of the information about the family history and lineage that we could.

This was followed by hours of work in Nashville, University of Missouri and the Salt Lake City libraries searching for information on this family branch and looking at U.S. Census microfilm records.

Some of this information will follow with the hope that it may be of some value and pleasure to read and to check.

First a little note on Polly Ann Williams (Mother of Annie (Eaton) Stafford). At 13 she married James Eaton and had nine children. Mr. Eaton was drowned in fording Caney Fork River on a mule. She later married Norman Frost. Mr. Frost was killed in Gainsboro, Tennessee. Later she married Thomas J. Williams. To them one son was born. Aunt Polly, as a hotel operator, was known to many people from different states. She had many good traits of character, humor, kindness, and a wonderful remembrance of peoples names and faces. She lived to be over 80 years old. She was, in her early years, a member of the Church of Christ but later united with the Methodist Church, south of Gainsboro.

A Child Comes Downstairs

He came softly down the stairs
And he took us unawares
As we sat there very gravely
Talking over big affairs;
And he made a pretty sight
In his "jammies" pink and white,
To his mother's consternation,
But I'll say to my delight.

Things were rather dull I'll swear,
And half dozing in my chair
I deplored the idle chatter
Till I saw him standing there!
Down the stairs he crept alone
And his little features shone
With a radiant look of rapture
As he made his presence known.

"Sonny boy!" his mother said,
"You're supposed to be in bed.
Don't you know the Sandman's waiting
For each little sleepy head?"
But we hailed him with delight,
For no lovelier a sight
Can the eyes of old folks witness
Than a little child at night.

And I thought as off he went
To his bed at last content
What so sweet a visitation
To us weary grownups meant,
For it broke the dullness there,
With a flash of beauty rare,
Just to see that little fellow
Standing smiling on the stair.

NEGRO TEACHER HUNG ON THE CUMBERLAND RIVER

A negro "teacher" from the North who was telling the slaves of the area to escape to the North, told them that it would not be many years until the negroes would be superior to the white race. This caused quite a bit of trouble to the slave owners and they insisted that the negro (teacher) go away and leave them alone, but the negro refused. He was hung from an old Beech tree which is still standing. It is rumored that he was buried near this Big Bottom Graveyard. He was the only person every murdered in this bend area.

Chapter 9

WILLIAM BOYD STAFFORD and DANIEL JACKSON STAFFORD and CYNTHIA (STAFFORD) BRADSHER

Sometime late in September 1959, after having been through the East and South, searching for Staffords and doing research at Salt Lake City, Washington, D.C., Richmond, Virginia, Raleigh, N. C., Nashville and Memphis, Tennessee, we registered at the Sands Motel, Springfield, Missouri. The manager, Mr. T. C. Nelson, looked at our registration and remarked that one of his former close friends was named Stafford - William Stafford who lived down near Harrisburg, and he thought we resembled him.

When we arrived home we found a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Nelson with a clipping from the Modern News of Harrisburg, Arkansas, printed October the 5th. The item was a long report of the Boyd and Martha Stafford reunion held at Mrs. Edna (Stafford) Hindsley's home on Sunday, October 4, 1959. This article listed the names of the persons attending and gave some of the history of the different families.

The next summer we had been through the South and into Washington, D.C. still gathering Stafford Family data. In June we drove from Springfield, Missouri, down to meet some of these people. We found Clyde and William Stafford and Edna Hindsley the first evening and they were all very friendly and helpful. William told us his grandfather's name was also William, William Boyd. Edna told us that Cynthia Bradsher was a sister of William Boyd and that Daniel Jackson (or Jack) Stafford, a brother, came with Boyd from Tennessee and settled in Poinsett County, Arkansas. From records we had, we knew that Cynthia Stafford and John Bradsher had been married 3-13-1830 in Caswell County, N. C. Previously, during our visit at Leasburg, N.C. we had found that Bradshers were buried there in the local cemetery. The 1850 U. S. Census, Fayette County, Tennessee, gives North Carolina as the birth state of William B. Stafford and Daniel Jack Stafford. We were convinced then that they were a part of the Caswell County Stafford clan.

Cynthia Stafford Bradsher, their sister (born about 1812), was married there in Caswell County in 1830. They could be and probably are the children of one of the following named brothers of William and Joseph Stafford: Eli, who married Nancy Morgan (12-26-1807); Adam, who married Doza Rudd (12-25-1809); James, who married Polly Eskridge (1799); or Laban, Jr., whose wife and date of marriage we do not have; or Henry, whose wife and date of marriage is not given. Older brothers were Thomas and John. Then in William Boyd Stafford's will he mentions his children. Among them were: Eli, John, Thomas, and Samuel.

In the county seat at Harrisburg, Arkansas we found William Boyd's will which was dated July 22, 1867 and was probated January 16, 1892.

WILL of W. B. STAFFORD of Poinsett County, Arkansas
Copied: 6-21-1960
Harrisburg, Arkansas

"Know all men by these presents: That I, W. B. Stafford, of Scott Township in the County of Poinsett and State of Arkansas being in ill health and of sound and deposing mind and memory do make and publish this my last will and testament. First: I institute and appoint my Martha C. Stafford to be sole Executrix of this my last will and testament, directing my said Executrix to pay all my just debts and funeral expenses. Second: After the payment of my said debts and funeral expenses; I give, devise and bequeath to my wife Martha C. Stafford as long as she shall remain unmarried and my widow - or her natural life, all my horses and mules and my stock of hogs and all of my stock of cattle and all my household and kitchen furniture on which I now live and all effects I own. Third: If my wife Martha C. Stafford do marry then I want all my property and effects equally divided between my wife Martha and my children; Samuel, Eli Stafford, and John C. Stafford, and Thomas Powell Stafford, and Mary Caroline Stafford, and Nancy Cheatham Stafford and James Rubern Stafford share and share alike.

This July 22, 1867

W. B. Stafford

The Fayette County, Tennessee, marriage records show the dates of the William B. Stafford and Daniel J. Stafford marriages. It will be noted in the 1850 U. S. Census of Fayette County, Tennessee, where William B. and his brother lived, that they were born in North Carolina.

MARRIAGES of STAFFORDS found in the County Marriage Record Book which started with 1875 were:

to		Matilda Shelton

The information was that Staffords were to be found all the way south to the Southern boundary of Arkansas. It was decided that we should attempt to contact as many as we could. A number of names and addresses had been given to us.

Our second stop was at Marked Tree where we called on Senator Fred Stafford. We had a very enjoyable hour's visit with him and his wife. It was learned that he is a part of the Canadian branch of the Staffords. Fred is a cousin of Ruth Stafford who married Norman Vincent Peale, minister of New York's Marble Collegiate Church, and nationally known through his books and newspaper and magazine writings. Fred's father is Dr. Frank W. Stafford and Fred's grandfather was Thomas Robert Stafford of Toronto, Canada.

The next stop was at Memphis where we worked the remainder of the day in the Genealogical department of the City Library - little of value was found except a copy of the Stafford Coat-of-Arms.

Someone had mentioned that Fayette County, Tennessee, had a number of Staffords. The next morning we drove to Somerville and checked the County records.

We were very soon rewarded for we found in the Marriage Register that:

DANIEL J. STAFFORD	married	Hester Ann Harrison	8-12-1841
VINCENT R. STAFFORD	married	Anna A. Barton	12-20-1838
THOMAS J. STAFFORD	married	Mary E. Barnes	2-24-1840
WILLIAM H. STAFFORD	married	Mary Ann D. Hood	2-18-1845
WILLIAM B. STAFFORD	married	Martha C. Bowers	1847

And as mentioned earlier, the Caswell County, N.C. marriage record indicated CYNTHIA STAFFORD married John Bradsher in 1830

WILLIAM B. STAFFORD apparently was a very active and trusted person as indicated by the Fayette County, Tennessee, records:

Monday, April 3, 1848. Court records, page 508. W. B. Stafford was appointed as administrator of the George M. Bowers estate (probably his wife's father).

February, 1845. Court records, page 92. V. B. Stafford was appointed administrator of the estate of James Stafford, deceased. W. B. Stafford and James Wilson his security.

August, 1848. Court records, page 543. William B. Stafford and James Wilson - Securities. W. B. Stafford was given permission (at his request) to resign as administrator of the Bowers Estate.

Considerable effort was made to get this family in as much detail as possible, and to secure the name of Cynthia, Daniel Jack and William Boyd's Father. We have earlier indicated that they came from Caswell County, North Carolina. They are very likely children of either Eli, Henry, or Adam (all sons of Laban) who married about 1807 to 1809 and did not leave Caswell County with the other brothers who moved to Jackson County, Tennessee. In questioning many people we find only a few, practically none, who know their great-grandparents' names.

The descendants of this family will find records of marriages, wills, land transactions, and U. S. Census records that may be of special interest on the following pages.

Notes on Fayette County, Tennessee

"Named for General LaFayette who visited the United States about the time the county was organized. Formally organized December 1824. In February 1825, Benjamin Reynolds, Robert Jetton, James Fentress and William Martin were commissioners appointed by the State Legislature to lay out the new county and to locate the county seat. Located on lands of George Bowers and James Brown, each of whom donated approximately 25 acres of land to the County. The County Court appointed William Owen, David Johnson, Hamilton Thornton, Henry Kirk and John T. Patterson to lay off the above land into town lots, sell the same at public auction and with the money obtained, build a temporary Courthouse and jail. Sale of lots occurred September 14, 1825 (not all lots were sold). The County seat was given the name it bears in honor of Lieutenant Somerville who fell while fighting under General Jackson in the Creek War of 1814, though for a number of years the town was called Bowersville, in honor of George Bowers, father of Martha (Bowers) Stafford."

The Courthouse was ready for occupancy by November 1825. It was 20 feet square and one story long. In 1833 a two-story brick courthouse, 50x60, was built in the middle of the square. In 1876, the old Courthouse was removed to erect the present $45,000 brick Courthouse.

Population: 1825 - 800; 1840 - 21,501; 1850 - 26,719; 1870 - 26,145; 1880 - 31,874. Between 1880 and 1886 a large number of negroes went to Arkansas, Texas, and other southern states, from Fayette County. The vote of the county is divided in a ratio of 3 to 4 between the Democrats and Republicans, the colored vote all going to the Republicans. The Democrats, however, manage to keep control of the County offices. Products were wheat, corn, oats, potatoes, cotton and a little tobacco. The first store was opened by a Mr. Anderson for David Diderick and in 1837 a branch of the State Bank was established. Somerville Lodge #73 F. and A. M. was instituted October 9, 1829. The first newspaper was established 1837 (Reporter) by William Lewis.

Settlements started in 1822 and 1823. Very little timber had been cleared away (1824) and wild beasts of the forest held high carnival wherever they pleased. The County was settled in neighborhoods, frequently several miles apart. The groups of neighbors were usually related or came in colonies and settled near each other for assistance and protection. Game was abundant and entered largely into the support of the whites, and Indians also made frequent hunting expeditions throughout the County. LaGrande was a favorite trading post for the Indians who came from Mississippi. They were at this time peaceable. A number of persons from North Carolina received land grants and land brought from 50¢ to $1.00 per acre. First water mill for grinding corn was built in 1825 by Jarigan and Owen on the North Fork of Wolf River. First cotton gin was built in 1830 by George Bond. The first public road was cut from Hardeman County to Shelby County in 1824.

The schools of the county were organized under the present system in 1874, under R. W. Pitman, who served three years. County Superintendants salaries for the seven-year period following were:

1874 -	$ 600	1876 -	$ 600
Later -	250	1877 - 1881 -	250
Later -	150	1881 -	800

The advent of civilization into this county was followed or accompanied by the establishment of religious organizations. The worship of the Christians' God soon took the place of the worship of the Great Spirit of the untutored savage of the virgin forest. Quote: "Where the mind is free, religion never has dangerous enemies. Atheism is the mistake of the metaphysician, not of human nature. Infidelity gains the victory when it wrestles with hypocricy or superstition, not when its antagonist is reason. When an ecclesiastical establishment requires universal conformity, some consciences must necessarily be wronged and oppressed. Religious denominations differ, not so much in the great fundamental truths upon which the church is based, as upon church objectives and church policy. The former is divine, the latter is the work of human hands, and is the outgrowth of antecedents, a peculiar mental make-up. It would be impossible to chain the fiery impetuous pioneer Methodist of the frontier, to the cool, calculating, studious cultivated matter-of-fact Presbyterian. Do this and you would lose both. Neither would it do to bind the Baptist of the new country in church fellowship to the formal Episcopal, whose forms are very foreign to the new country."

THE LAMPLIGHTER

The little lamps of friendship
We light along the way,
Go shining on far down the years,
And brighten every day.

'Tis love that keeps them burning
In sympathy and trust.
God help us that no lamp goes out,
Because we let it rust.

Chapter 10

PART I

SOME NEW ENGLAND and other STAFFORD FAMILIES

ORIGINALLY, the author's main purpose in this book was to trace his own family of Staffords (in America) as far back as possible and to carry forward as many of these family lineages as were available. However, when the announcement of the book went out, many responded and inquiries came in from others, indicating a deep and general interest in a number of different Stafford lines. This seemed to justify an attempt to secure available information through individual Staffords or descendants of these early American families.

Of course, this has delayed the printing of the book three or four months, but the author feels the effort well worthwhile. Some of the reports received have been quite complete. Others brief. Our regret is that we could not have had much more. Lack of time prevented further work now. The book should go to press. We are pleased to include this special chapter and trust the material brought together here will prove interesting and helpful to many persons of Stafford lineage whom it concerns and to those who may be making special studies of their family history and ancestry.

The names of the persons in this chapter are included in the Index with serial numbers above 2000.

The interesting outline below was furnished by Leon Stafford Davis, a direct descendant of Thomas Stafford. Mr. Davis is now a member of the Legislature of the State of Oregon.

The name Stafford came after William the Conqueror established his right to the throne of England.

With William at the fateful battle of Hastings, 1066 A.D., was Robert De Toesnei, probably the standard bearer for William and one of his trusted Knights. For his gallantry in battle and his faithful service to William, Robert was named the first Lord Stafford, and governor of Staffordshire. All Staffords, therefore, would be descended from this Robert and his wife, Avice De Clare.

From that time on we find the Staffords at the side of the King, and embroiled in royal politics, and at times in religious politics, until in the 1500's we find Edward Stafford, Earl of Stafford and 3rd Duke of Buckingham, put to death in the Tower of London.

The original Staffords in America were William, who came to Virginia in 1622, and his brother Thomas who appears at Plymouth, Massachusetts about 1626. It is believed, though not proven, that Thomas was, perhaps, the son of Roger Stafford, last male heir to the Barony of Stafford.

Belief that Thomas was of important position and disturbing to the British King at that time, is the fact that he brought with him to Plymouth the original coat of arms of the De Toesni's. Those who have seen it describe it as "engraved on wood and paper and mounted on a panel of wood one foot square."

Both Thomas and William were from Warwickshire, England, due, probably, to the fact that the Staffords had been divested of the estates in Staffordshire, although later restored. It is therefore probable that these two Staffords were in Warwickshire because there was where the family went after the King took away the estates.

2001-A THOMAS STAFFORD, b. 1605 in England, d. about 1677, on his arrival at Plymouth, did not remain there too long, but went to Providence, Rhode Island, where he constructed a water-powered grist mill. Later he constructed another near Newport, R. I. Meanwhile he married a woman named Elizabeth, her surname never having been established.

His children were:

2002-B 1. Thomas Stafford
2003-B 2. Samuel Stafford, born in 1635. He died March 20, 1718, at Warwick, R. I.
2004-B 3. Sarah Stafford
2005-B 4. Deborah Stafford
2006-B 5. Hannah Stafford
2007-B 6. Joseph Stafford

Four of these brothers migrated to Essex County, New York, with their families in the early days of the Essex County settlement. They all bought land and farmed in the vicinity of Willsboro, Lewis, and Essex towns. Many of them, apparently, were members of the militia and defended their lands against the landings of the British in the battles which took place along the shores of Lake Champlain. These towns either were on the shores of the lake, or close to it.

2158-D-8 John Stafford

Thomas sold his interest in the farm at Warwick and removed to Coventry, R. I., prior to 1744.

2156-D-6 JOAB STAFFORD, b. November 14, 1729 Farmer near Coventry, owned considerable real estate and was in a profitable
2156 M lumber business. Married Susannah Spencer (b. September 17, 1729) October 6, 1751. They had 10 children, 7 being born in Greenwich and Coventry, R. I. In 1766 he purchased 396 acres of land in Berkshire County, Massachusetts Bay, for $150, and since other Rhode Island families purchased here the new plantation was given the name Providence. Cheshire in this tract was settled in 1767. Joab early received the title Captain, later Colonel. He seems to have made a number of trips abroad. He later went into business and his goods were purchased in Providence, R. I., and were carted to him a distance of 120 miles by ox teams. It is quite probable that Colonel Joab Stafford was of the Berkshire]Militia or Minutemen who met General]Burgoyne forces near Bennington. He was made a pensioner in June 1794 and afterwards appointed a Colonel of the Massachusetts Militia. His sword used at Bennington was probably next used by his son Samuel who sustained the family honor under Montgomery at Crown Point in 1775. Joab Stafford on February 15, 1783 sold a portion of his property and moved to Albany, N. Y. He went into business and held positions with the State as Commissioner to partition large land patents.

John Stafford must have lived in Giles County, Virginia, in the early 1800's. It is noted that his eldest son, Ralph Monroe Stafford, moved to Kentucky and from there to Dearborn, Missouri. The first date obtained in this outline, June 18, 1873, is that of the birth of James Anthony Stafford, a great grandchild of John. He was born in Dearborn, where children of the 5th and 6th generations now live.

The above information was furnished by John Ralph Stafford of St. Louis, Missour, who is a descendant of the John Stafford of Virginia. Mr. Stafford Missouri, who is a descendant of the John Stafford of Virginia. Mr. Stafford, an educator and businessman, was educated principally in the schools of Missouri having taken his B.A. degree at State College, Warrensburg and later his M.A. degree from Washington University, St. Louis. He also did graduate work at Berkeley, California, and became a teacher and supervisor. He served in various community activities such as Y.M.C.A., Boy Scout work, his church and the Masonic Lodge.

PART IX

JARVIS STAFFORD FAMILY

Jarvis Stafford, the colonial ancestor of this family, according to tradition was born in Virginia. The exact date is not known. He later lived in Maryland, North Carolina and South Carolina before moving to Ohio in 1805. According to the census he was in Cheraw District, S. C. in 1790. He later lived in Marlboro County for fifteen years or more.

Mabel K. Stafford, in her book, "The Stafford Lineage Book", refers to Quaker records held in the vault of Guilford College, N. C. These state that Jarvis Stafford and family were issued a certificate to Waineville Monthly Meeting in the State of Ohio, April 1805. She also quotes from Scott's History of Highland County, Ohio, P. 97: "The same fall, 1805, came James and Jacob Griffin, Jarvis Stafford and his Sons, Shadrach, Levin, James and John."

Jarvis Stafford died in Liberty Township, Highland County, Ohio, March 1812.

Material on Jarvis Stafford and his descendants was mostly furnished by Leo Stafford of San Diego, California, who is a grandson of the 6th generation from Jarvis. Mr. Stafford gave the author access to a book, published in 1932, by his aunt Mabel K. Stafford. This gave the direct lineage from Jarvis to the time of publication with much interesting information concerning different members of the family. Qualities of this stalwart Quaker of colonial times must have carried on through to his granddaughter Mabel of the 5th generation who gave her life to various phases of Y. W. C. A. work from Coast to Coast. She died in Los Angeles, California, in 1955.

The first generation, Ivy and Thomas Rickerson Stafford, are thought to have moved to Taney County, Missouri. The above information was furnished by Mrs. Morris Lewis.

ROBERT STAFFORD
(1790 - 1840)

Robert Stafford and his wife Selah (Celia) began their married life in the highlands of western North Carolina. Robert was engaged in the business of tar production which in those days consisted of processing pitch pine so that the tar could be extracted, put into barrels and marketed. Processing and marketing were by primitive methods. From the point where the tar was extracted the barrels were rolled down a slope, sometimes several miles long, to a general marketing place. Money from the sale of six barrels of tar would enable one to buy one beaver hat.

Later, Robert and his wife, with their daughters, Mary and Ivy, and son, Thomas Rickerson, migrated westward from North Carolina to central Tennessee, settling in Perry County on the Tennessee River. Their son, George Noah Stafford, was born here. About 1829-1830 they again decided to move on, this time to Missouri. Before leaving Perry County they obtained a boat of considerable size, called a "Kiehl" type boat, and with this heavy rowboat they went down the Tennessee River to the Ohio and down the Ohio River to Cairo, Illinois. Here they sold their boat and secured passage to St. Louis by "side-wheeler". In St. Louis they made inquiries about conditions in Missouri and, while waiting on the levees, they observed the trade and commerce on the Mississippi River. They noticed that an overwhelming amount of produce and livestock came from across the river, from Illinois. This observation caused them to change their plan to go to Missouri and, instead, go into Illinois where they settled first at a small village called Highland, in Madison County.

According to the account in the History of Fayette County, Illinois (1910), given by Robert Stafford's daughter Caroline and her husband, Jesse Mays, her parents moved to Carson Twsp. (a part of Bowling Green Twsp. until 1889), Fayette County, Illinois, in 1835, having lived in Madison County for five years. By this time two more daughters had been born to Robert and Selah Stafford, Celia and Julia Ann, one or both born at Highland. Caroline, their youngest child, was born in Carson Twsp. in 1838.

Their first home in what is now Carson Twsp. was at Bowling Green, a trading post on a stage line running from Vandalia, then the capital of Illinois, to Shelbyville, which is now the county seat of Shelby County. Robert Stafford opened a country store which he operated for several years. In order to obtain goods and supplies to stock his store it was necessary to travel, quite regularly, to St. Louis, a distance of seventy-five miles. Each round trip, made by ox team and wagon, required from three to four weeks time. There is a receipt in the possession of one of his descendents acknowledging payment for a bill of goods. It is made out to Robert Stafford by the wholesalers Gore & Ridgway, of St. Louis, and is dated October 15, 1840. Since the usual sixty or ninety days for payment was the rule, this purchase was perhaps made in July or August and may have been one of the last made by Robert Stafford before he closed his store and moved once more.

This time he moved with his family down Bowling Green mound, past the bluffs of Beck's creek, and settled on the rich bottom land he had purchased along the stage route, land acquired at government prices not to exceed $1.50 per acre. On this land they had constructed a double log house consisting of two single-room houses connected by an open shed-way.

Robert Stafford died at this, his last homestead, on December 24, 1840, aged 50 years. His widow, who proved to be an excellent business woman, with the help of their children built this property into one of the fine farms in that section of the country. She died on September 16, 1865, aged 59 years.

2612-M Mertice Ethel Doughterty, b. December 7, 1900, Clinch County, Georgia.

Daughter

2613 Shearer Lee Smith, b. December 14, 1934, Jacksonville, Florida.
2613-M Max D. Holman, b. April 30, 1935, Tampa, Florida.

The family of William Eastwood Stafford evidently belongs to a family who migrated to the South and probably to the descendants of Laban Stafford. The above material was furnished by Mrs. L. N. Smith of Lancaster, California.

CONCLUSIONS

Our pioneer ancestors had neither wealth nor much of what we call education. These early settlers traveled by pack-horse, crude carts or wagons with all their goods. They built their own flat boats and rafts, crossed rivers, or floated down streams. Every man was a farmer, carpenter, blacksmith and knew how to hunt and kill wild game. Every woman spun flax, wool and cotton and wove the cloth needed in the home and from this material made the clothes for the family. She knew the plants and herbs to use for the various illnesses and was doctor and nurse for her family. As a rule, only the preacher had very much "book learning" and yet these hardy pioneers had an education of their own of mind and spirit. They were men and women of high ideals and courage and fine character. We who have sprung from early American stock may well take pride in the fact, and revere those who helped make possible the benefits we of this generation enjoy. They have aided much in the growth and development of the country and aided in the establishment of our country. They have been known for their ambition, integrity, piety, moral and physical strength, fortitude and courage.

Contacts made and information received from this study has brought attention and emphasis to the broad interests and abilities displayed by this family. There are those who are pursuing or have pursued with more than ordinary success, endeavors in the fields of art, music, dramatics, etc.; many in the professions as medicine, dentistry, education, religion, law, politics and the military, etc.; some in the various fields of commerce; some in agriculture; some in the many branches of industry and transportation; and a large number show their skills in the many crafts; a good portion of them seem to have excellent natural abilities and take pride in doing their work well, and all seem to get satisfaction in contributing through their occupations, and the many worthwhile community organizations (activities), to the improvement of the social, cultural, and economical development of their communities.

A number fought as soldiers and officers in the American Revolutionary War, the War of 1812, the Mexican War, and the War of the States. And their sons and daughters did their full share in World Wars I and II and in Korea.

The era in which we now live is the greatest in all history for scientific advancement and for the comforts which it has brought, but the era just starting has the promise of being far greater, providing greater material, social and spiritual privilege and opportunity for all. For each of you in the new era, the times will demand the development of your mental capacities to the extent of your abilities and resources in order to meet favorably your opportunities.

And now may we close with this poem, entitled:

The Pioneers

"O'er every modern luxury there lies,
The Shade of ancient hardship. He who flies
Across a continent on wings of gauze
Threads the thin path of meteors because

His fathers, wingless, earthbound, as they groped,
Through marsh and jungle, upward gazed and hoped.
The cars that roll so ceaselessly today
On velvet wheels along the concrete way
Would find no highways spanning hill and vale
Had not the drudging oxcarts blazed the trail."

--E. O. Laughlin, M. D.

As the author proceeded in this work he became increasingly aware of the great number of Staffords, the number of family branches in the United States and the wide distribution of the family of Staffords. However, the opinion commonly expressed by persons who have studied their lineage is that this is one family. And that all Staffords in America are generally considered as such, the same as they are in Great Britain.

The Stafford Family in America deserves a much more complete history than now exists. Unpublished private collections here and there, brought together with the published information, would aid greatly as a source of data and direction for a thorough research into the history of this family. The resulting research and compilation should be interesting and worthwhile. It is the hope of the author that someone may be challenged to attempt such study and pursuit.

The author here again reminds all Staffords and their descendants that he would be pleased to receive any Stafford family information including: additions, corrections, reports of births, marriages, deaths, Stafford Reunions, any special accomplishments, honors and awards.

Of especial interest would be information on (1) The Joseph A. Stafford (married Cynthia Montgomery, Hardeman County, Tennessee) descendants; (2) Any of Laban Stafford's Sons' Families, including

(a) Thomas, (b) Henry, (c) John, (d) Eli, (e) James (f) Adam, and (g) Laban, Jr., (h) Joseph (wife, Nancy Whitlock) descendants and other branches of the Jackson County, Tennessee, Families; (3) Descendants of Asbury G. Chapman (married Cynthia Jane Stafford, 1852, in Dallas County, Missouri, moved to Northern Arkansas); and (4) any other branch of the Stafford Family.

This data may help to clear up family relation and lineages of the different Stafford Branches.

Enough valuable material may be collected in this manner to justify periodical reports to persons who have our book or to someone wanting to write a Stafford Genealogy.

Such reports and communications may be addressed to:

CREDITS AND ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

My wife who helped and gave encouragement in the research, copying and proofreading and gave assistance and encouragement throughout the whole work.

To Mr. Floyd J. Highfill, a close friend since our boyhood, for the biographical sketch.

To Flora Farrior who so very generously did most of the work on the Index.

To Mr. M. W. Perry, Past Superintendent of Schools here, and Judge John Barnett of Escondido who read the manuscript and wrote notes of recommendation for the announcement of the printing of the book.

To Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Gott for the use of Bird L. Stafford's Bible.

To Mrs. James B. Royal for the use of John L. Stafford's Bible.

To Mrs. Edna Hindsley who worked so faithfully and untiringly to secure data on the William Boyd and related families.

To those persons mentioned above for their contributions, for any who have been overlooked, and for the following list of names of persons who so kindly filled out and sent in the family data forms, we appreciate your assistance. Thank you sincerely.

THE FAMILY RECORD

This form is very complete and no doubt, the Family Record, if carefully placed thereon, will be of great value, and will be properly prized by the members of the family and their descendants in the days to come.

Some of us strongly believe it is our duty to know about one's forebears; and also feel that parents should lead their children to respect and reverence the family history.

William Penn said, "Next to God, thy parents."
John Quincy Adams said, "Think of your forebears! Think of your posterity!"
Henry Ward Beecher said, "There is no friendship, no love, like that of the parent for the child."

"It is indeed a desirable thing to be well descended, but the glory belongs to our ancestors." - Plutarch

"Intelligence, and reflection, and judgment reside in old men, and if there had been none of them, no states could exist at all." - Marcus T. Cicero.

"The good man prolongs life; to be able to enjoy one's past life is to live twice." - Martial

"The short period of life is long enough for living well and honourably." - Cicero

"It takes a long time to bring excellence to maturity." - Plublilius Syrus

"I shall not wholly die. What is best of me shall 'scape the tomb'." - Horace

The Family Record is so valuable for so many purposes, it is due our careful and faithful attention.

The Author of the Laban Stafford Family Tree

A SHORT BIOGRAPHY OF ERNEST NEAN STAFFORD

August 3, 1892 was a "red letter day" for Nathaniel Bird Stafford and Nancy Drusilla (Hill) Stafford, for on this date their second child, and only son, was born. The birthplace for this son, Ernest Nean Stafford, was at March in Dallas County, Missouri on a farm.

It was here that Ernest was to spend the first thirteen years of his life. Bird and Nancy Stafford moved to Springfield, Missouri in 1906 so that their son and his four sisters might have an opportunity to get an education. Ernest was a willing student, and never lost an opportunity to improve himself. In 1908 he entered the Springfield Normal School, at that time a preparatory school and a college for training teachers. It was here that he prepared himself to become a teacher.

He began his teaching career in 1910, at the age of 18, in a one-room rural school near Springfield at a salary of $30.00 per month. His efforts as a teacher met with success. During his first five years as a teacher, his salary was increased to $72.50 per month. He alternated teaching with going to school. Since the rural school terms were 6-8 months, this enabled him to get as much as two-thirds of a school year each calendar year.

He took one year off from teaching in 1916 in order to go on to college fifteen months. Following this period of concentrated training, he became Superintendent of the Willard, Missouri, Consolidated School for two years. He was principal and superintendent at Lovington, New Mexico, three years, and principal of the high school at Santa Rita, New Mexico, in 1922 and 1923. He followed these assignments by teaching in the high schools of Springfield, Missouri, for two years.

He received the A. B. Degree from Silver City, New Mexico, in 1922, and the B. S. Degree from the Southwest Missouri State College at Springfield, Missouri, in 1923. While serving as superintendent in New Mexico, he met and married Miss Anna B. Berrier, who was a home economics teacher from Las Cruces, New Mexico.

Ernest became Superintendent of the Consolidated Schools in Dadeville, Missouri, in 1925. Here he and his wife instituted the Teacher Training Course and the Smith-Hughes Vocational Home Economics Course. The two years at Dadeville were very successful, but it was here that Ernest heard the call "Go West Young Man". Ernest and Anna moved with their young son to California in 1927.

After attending the University of Southern California in Los Angeles, Ernest accepted a teaching assignment in the Escondido High School near San Diego in September 1927. At the close of one semester, he discontinued a successful career as a teacher and school administrator and purchased the Chevrolet Agency in Escondido. A little later he and his wife purchased the Buick-Oldsmobile Agency.

While they were still in the automobile business, Ernest also ventured into the field of investments. He purchased, or traded for business lots, houses, citrus orchards, and avocado acreage. Later he became interested in the designing, building and leasing of business and professional buildings.

It was in the early 40's that Ernest and Anna decided to build a beautiful new house on the top of one of the most picturesque hills that surround Escondido. This became their most real and their permanent home. This also became the most historical landmark for their son, Newton, and their daughter, Ernestine, for it was here on the hilltop they were both married.

Ernest claimed that he retired June 30, 1959, but he and his son, Newton, continue the sub-division program and the rentals are kept in first class condition. Let us never say that he retired, but that he transferred his major interests from ranching and from business to world travel and to "living". Already Ernest and Anna have crossed the United States more than forty times, and have traveled in every state in the union, and in Canada, Alaska, Mexico, Australia, New Zealand, Hawaii and most of the European countries. They have a hope that ahead of them, in the immediate future, are more interesting tours of foreign lands.

During all these years, Ernest has been busy as a leader participating in a score of community and world-wide activities. For two years, 1950-52, he served as Chairman of the Escondido Chapter of the Red Cross. He was most active in the Escondido district and the San Diego County Farm Bureaus, having served as president of each for two years. For several years he has been active in various masonic bodies. He is a member of the Al Bahr Shrine of San Diego. He was a worthy patron of the Eastern Star Chapter for two terms, and served as High Priest of the Royal Arch Chapter of Escondido in 1947. During his time in Escondido, he has participated as a leader in educational activities.

For six years, he served on the Board of Education of the Union Elementary School of Escondido, and on the Board of Education of the Palomar Junior College for four years -- two years as president. He was a member of the San Diego County Grand Jury for the year 1940.

In addition to his participation in all these activities, one of his major interests in life has always been in church and Christian work, having been brought up in the church. Since 1927, he and his wife have been members of the First Methodist Church of Escondido. (His son and daughter are also members of this church). Ernest served for nine years on the Board of Trustees of his church, with four years of that period as president of the board. He was chairman of the Church Building Committee and had charge of the construction of the Educational Building in 1951. He organized the Methodist Men in the local church, and served as its president for four years. He promoted the organization of the Protestant Released Time Religious Educational Association of Escondido, and was its president for two years.

Ernest is especially good in color photography, and has accumulated hundreds of slides of his travels across the country and throughout the world. He maintains a keen interest in educational and religious institutions. His son, Newton Berrier Stafford has presented to him four grandchildren: Lisa L., Claire A., Eric H., and Joy Irene. His daughter, Ernestine Ann Griswold, has two children: John Stafford Griswold and David Thomas Griswold. Beyong these interests, he has now developed an interest in securing a thorough knowledge of the entire Stafford family and presenting this to the present and future generations by compiling a Family Tree. This has meant traveling more than 30,000 miles gathering data. It meant endless hours of research, and it has taken thousands of hours to organize and classify the materials obtained.

May we remind you that this author is the same farm boy from Missouri who started teaching in a small country school. It was his efficiency, determination, willingness, and everlasting hard work that caused Ernest N. Stafford to succeed in his various undertakings, and that made it possible for him to succeed in compiling this book. Not only is this a climax of a life well lived, it is a monument to the children and grandchildren of the author . . . and an honor to all past and future generations of The Stafford Family.

Christ said, "I came that ye might have life, and that ye might have it more abundantly." Surely Ernest has lived abundantly.

Dear Mr. Stafford:

I have examined your book and want to compliment you on a job well-done. The review which you requested I now submit to you.

LABAN STAFFORD, HIS ANCESTORS AND DESCENDANTS, A GENEALOGY. By Ernest Nean Stafford. Escondido,Calif., the author, 1962. 286p. $12.50

From multi-color frontespiece (the Stafford coat-of-arms) to "Richard Young," the last entry in the author's detailed index, this is a first-rate example of genealogical research, interpretation and publishing.

Charts, portraits and maps--and the very format of the physical volume itself--are bonus values in this book. In terms of information, contributions to genealogical research, and new material, this is a most worthwhile book but the author has made it better by including tidbits of anecdotal history which throw light on the Staffords, their times, and their settlements. All in all, this is a commendable addition to our genealogical shelves.
